Government's Strike Authority Challenged

AMENDMENT ATTACKED BY SEN. BORAH

WASHINGTON, April 2.—(UP)—Sen. William E. Borah, R., Idaho, today challenged the authority of the federal government to deal with sit-down strikes and opposed amendment of the Guffey coal control act to include an anti-sit-down provision.

Responsibility of State
Borah told the senate that the federal government had no power to intervene in a sit-down and that this responsibility was that of the state where the sit-down occurred.

"The sole authority that can deal with this situation in the state of Michigan," said Borah, "is the state of Michigan."

"I do not believe that the national government has any authority to deal with the situation in any way."

Borah addressed the senate as Senate Majority Leader Joseph T. Robinson sought to refer to the senate interstate commerce committee the anti-sit-down amendment proposed by Sen. James F. Byrnes, D., S. C.

Approval Predicted
The senate debate came while Rep. Martin Dies, D., Tex., predicted the house rules committee would approve his resolution providing for a house investigation into the sit-down strike situation.

Robinson pointed out Byrnes' amendment had been offered without any warning and that it had not been considered by any standing committee of the senate.

"There is a general feeling in the senate," Robinson said, "that"

WPA PICKETS SPREAD STRIKE

SAN FRANCISCO, April 2.—(UP)—Pickets' cars, manned by members of the Workers' Alliance, sped to San Francisco Bay area W. P. A. projects today in an effort to spread the strike which has crippled work relief in San Francisco and Alameda counties.

Pickets Dispersed
Police dispersed 150 pickets from the Crocker-Amazon W. P. A. project. More than 100 men employed on the project went to work without delay, police said.

Available reports indicated approximately 4000 workers had quit their jobs. Union leaders had estimated before the walkout that the strike call would affect 30,000.

Walter E. Koestiz, Alameda county W. P. A. director, reported the strike apparently was more effective in the east bay area. He said 34 of 320 projects were shut down, with 2795 employees out of 10,250 of the jobs.

12,000 Workers Affected
In San Francisco, the tie-up centered around three "white-collar" projects—recreation, writers' and historical research. The walkout here affected 12,000 workers. Skilled craftsmen and laborers on San Francisco construction jobs apparently were remaining on the job.

The Workers' Alliance called the

SPRING STYLES ON SPANISH FRONT

The natty appearance of Spanish rebel troops is an amazing contrast to the rag-tag revolutionaries of tradition. The Moors (left) who comprise Insurgent Leader Francisco Franco's personal guard, are picturesque in white turbans and robes. Those at right look like soldiers on dress parade. Their multi-colored, heavily braided blouses, shiny boots and steel helmets indicate how well the revolution is financed.

ANAHEIM MAY VOTE ON BONDS

Despite the fact that a recent government ruling affecting all PWA projects has virtually dealt a blow to Anaheim's proposed $561,318 school project, plans are being made today to continue with present plans without government aid.

Project Approved
The school project in question has received the approval of all examining divisions of the PWA but as yet the grant of $252,818 sought by the district has not been allotted. The new policy adopted by the government, which virtually forecloses all chance for the project, is a requirement that before approval will be granted, an amended application must be filed showing the district's ability to finance the project 100 per cent.

The Anaheim school district recently voted bonds in the sum of $300,000, representing the difference between the proposed grant and the total cost of the project.

Today, when advised of the new ruling, City Clerk Charles Griffith expressed the belief that the district will attempt to go ahead with the project even though government help is not forthcoming.

May Call Election
The schools are needed, Griffith said, and if necessary, the district may call another bond issue to make up the difference between the bonds already voted and the total cost of the project.

If the bonds fail, the district is empowered to assess taxes for the purpose of raising the necessary money. The whole matter is expected to be thrashed out at the next meeting of the city council on April 13.

Under the new policy, the whole cost of each project must be financed by the sponsor, and the government grant "earned" by payments to relief workers at the site will be paid from month to month, if the project is privately financed, or by cancellation of indebtedness, if bonds are sold to the government.

HOTEL IN DETROIT
GUARDED BY POLICE

DETROIT, April 2.—(UP)—Officials of the swank, 1200 room Book-Cadillac hotel tried to restore normal service for 800 guests today, while a mediation board headed by Mayor Frank Couzens sought to settle a strike of chefs, waiters, waitresses, bellhops and elevator operators.

A double line of policemen—armed with batons—guarded the hotel's only entrance. Strikers, forced to vacate the 23 story building after staging a two and one half hour sit down demonstration yesterday, formed picket lines.

The hotel management indicated that it would care for registered guests but that it would not welcome new ones until the controversy had been settled. Dining rooms and tap rooms were closed. Elevators were operated by clerks and other employees who did not join the strikers.

1833 Penny Is Owned By Collector

The 1837 penny found in Santa Ana cemetery this week is not the patriarch of pennies after all, it was disclosed today.

Miss Lois Courtney, 1605 Louise street, Santa Ana, came forward with an 1833 penny four years older than the cemetery centennial penny. Miss Courtney is a coin collector, and was presented with the 104-year-old penny some time ago by an elderly Santa Ana man who originally had 10 of the old coins, but had lost nine of them.

She said she had been unable to ascertain the present listed value of 1833 pennies. The 1837 penny was reported worth from $2 to $20.

COAL OPERATORS, UNION MEN MEET

NEW YORK, April 2.—(UP)—More than 400,000 soft coal miners were idle today in what was tantamount to a strike because of a deadlock between mine operators and representatives of the United Mine Workers of America over a new contract.

A subcommittee, composed of operators and union men, met again this afternoon in an attempt to agree upon a contract of wages and hours. Union men said that the only disputed point was their demand for time and a half pay for overtime.

At indications pointed to an early agreement. Charles O'Neill, spokesman for the operators, said after last night's adjournment that "it looks like everything will work out okay."

VOLIVA STATION BURNS
ZION, Ill., April 2.—(UP)—The huge wooden tabernacle in which Wilbur Glenn Voliva preached that the world is flat burned to the ground today. Radio station WCBD, nearby, also was destroyed.

F. D. R. PLANS NEW ESTIMATES

WASHINGTON, April 2.—(UP)—A recasting of the government's 1938 fiscal year budget when he sends his annual relief appropriation message to congress the week of April 14 was planned today by President Roosevelt.

Mr. Roosevelt said that, with his request for unemployment aid funds he would submit new revenue-spending estimates made by the U. S. treasury since the regular budget was prepared last December and delivered to Capitol Hill early in January.

He expressed again the hope that no new taxes would be necessary at this session of congress. He emphasized that he was speaking about the present session.

In his budget message last January Mr. Roosevelt said the 1938 final budget was in virtual balance except for a $400,000,000 statutory debt retirement item. He included $1,500,000,000 for relief in the 12 months after June 30.

Mr. Roosevelt said he has not yet seen the new revenue-spending estimates as they are still being prepared by the budget bureau. He said that the amount of the new relief appropriation has not been decided.

Clark Declines
To Discuss Case

NEW YORK, April 2.—(UP)—David H. Clark, dapper Los Angeles attorney who once was accused and acquitted on double murder charges, met newspapermen here today and told them that he had decided not to talk about his recent mysterious disappearance until he reached his home city.

"No comment," he repeated to questions as to why and how he left the coast city, whether he cleared out because of underworld threats and whether difficulties had "cleared up."

Duke Leaves For France April 26

ST. WOLFGANG, Austria, April 2.—(UP)—Usually dependable informants said today the Duke of Windsor intended to leave for France April 26. It had been reported previously from Monte Carlo, where Mrs. Simpson is staying, that the duke would go there for their expected marriage.

The six-month period after which Mrs. Simpson may apply for a final divorce decree will end April 27.

AUTO UNION IN MOVE TO MODIFY PACT

DETROIT, April 2.—(UP)—United Automobile Workers' union officials today asked General Motors corporation to agree to modification of their "permanent peace" pact as two of 11 sit down strikes in G. M. plants were settled.

At Lansing, Gov. Frank Murphy announced that Chrysler strike negotiations conferences would be resumed at 11 a. m. Saturday instead of today.

Wyndham Mortimer and Ed Hall, respectively first and second vice presidents of the union, went to General Motors offices to ask William S. Knudsen, executive vice president of the corporation, to permit modification of grievance handling machinery to include mediation by shop stewards.

Dissatisfaction with the present setup—which provides for a board of five to nine men to judge workers' grievances—is responsible for sit down strikes that began yesterday in G. M. plants and extended last night to all nine Chevrolet factories at Flint, the union claimed.

Return of approximately 14,000 workers to the assembly lines and shops of the Fisher Body corporation plant and that of the Yellow Truck and Coach Manufacturing company, at Pontiac was assured after settlement of one day strikes.

OIL MEN GET PAY INCREASE

Wage increases totaling more than $20,000 a year in Orange county were put into effect yesterday by the Standard Oil company of California. Approximately 330 employees in this county will benefit. The increase will affect field and office workers.

All classified oil workers getting $7.50 a day or less will get 40 cents a day increase, and those getting $7.51 to $9 will receive 20 cents a day more. Office workers getting less than $145 a month will get an increase of 40 cents a day and those over $145 an increase of 20 cents a day.

Last fall classified oil workers in low-salary bracket received 20 cents a day increase and higher paid men received 40 cents a day more.

It is estimated 330 are employed in Orange county by the Standard Oil company, although the general offices in Los Angeles were unable to furnish an accurate check. The number included mostly field workers although a large number are employed in branch offices and service stations.

Increases in wages will be included in the mid-April checks, according to Standard Oil officials.

Strike Closes
HERSHEY PLANT

HERSHEY, Pa., April 2.—(UP)—A sit down strike was called by C. I. O. leaders at the plant of the Hershey Chocolate corporation today.

The strike was called by John P. Loy, former employee of the corporation and local C. I. O. president with whom William S. R. Murrie, president of the company, recently reached an agreement for recognition of the union.

Approximately 3000 persons are employed at the plant. Company officials asked the loyal workers to leave at noon to avoid disorder and several hundred left.

The strike was called, according to leaders, because the company has dismissed many employees, including C. I. O. leaders, recently.

Meals May Be Exempt From Tax

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 2.—(UP)—Exemption of restaurant meals from payment of the state sales tax was approved today by the assembly committee on revenue and taxation in recommending for passage a bill sponsored by Assemblymen Boyle and Hunt of Los Angeles.

Under the proposed law, prepared foods would be placed in the same class as those purchased at grocery stores. Only opposition to the proposal was offered by C. Stanley Wood, Los Angeles, representing the California Manufacturers' association.

Another bill approved by the committee provides for exemption of newspaper from application of the state use tax. It was pointed out the tax never had been collected and should be removed from provisions of the act.

The first major accomplishment of the 52nd legislature was registered as the Garrison revenue bond bill was returned to the senate for concurrence before being dispatched to the governor.

Designed to permit municipalities to issue revenue bonds, on a majority vote of the people, to finance the construction or acquisition of nearly every type of public utility, the Garrison measure sailed through the assembly last yesterday, 65 to 10, after a brief debate. Because the lower house amended it to remove communication facilities from the list of utilities which may be acquired, the bill had to be returned to the senate.

There was no indication whether the governor would sign or veto the measure. When it reaches him, he will have 10 days to act upon it.

A somewhat similar public ownership bill, introduced by Sen. Roy J. Nielsen, will be held back pending final action of the Garrison measure, which was considered the more liberal of the two.

Two labor bills were approved by the assembly last yesterday. One was William Hornblower's measure to prevent the transfer of state highway patrolmen from one county to another for more than one week at a time unless an emergency existed. This was aimed indirectly at the mobilization of patrolmen in strike areas.

The other would require employers who advertise for workers after labor dispute negotiations have failed to state that strike conditions may prevail.

Charge Boy Tried TO WRECK TRAINS

LOS ANGELES, April 2.—(UP)—Don Chiniquy, 16-year-old juvenile court ward, today was held on charges of attempting to derail two Southern Pacific passenger trains near Palmdale Wednesday.

According to Capt. J. W. Hanby of the sheriff's office, Chiniquy assertedly confessed placing 14 tie plates across the main Los Angeles-San Francisco line two miles south of Palmdale.

Lives of hundreds of train passengers were endangered when the northbound "Owl" train struck the tie plates, but the wheels of the train scattered the plates without incident. A short time later the southbound San Joaquin limited passed the same spot and also struck the plates.

With Judge Steiger in turn stepping out of the picture as presiding jurist with control over grand jury matters, the other superior judges gave Steiger a vote of confidence and selected Conlan as his successor.

QUESTION SUSPECT
IN MATSON CASE

The prisoner, who gave his name as W. E. Blaney, is being held in Surry county jail at Dobson, where he is serving a 30-day sentence for drunkenness.

His fingerprints were sent to the federal bureau of investigation when it was noted he resembled artist's drawings of the Mattson kidnaper.

AMENDMENT ON STRIKES IS HIT

a matter of this importance involving as many factors as this does, should have the attention of a standing committee of the senate.

Sen. Edward R. Burke, D. Neb., asked Walter F. Dodd, Chicago constitutional expert, whether, in his opinion, either the president or congress has constitutional authority to deal with sit-down strikes.

"If strikes affected the free flow of commerce they might be within the present federal law as well as federal power," Dodd replied.

In the Senate Borah said in order to act the president would have to show that some rights of individuals or some federal law had been violated.

"It is not claimed that the state of Michigan is proceeding in violation of the 14th amendment to deny equal rights to any citizens," Borah said.

"On the contrary, it is a conflict between citizens of the state. If the governor of the state feels that he is unable to handle the situation, then it is up to him to ask the federal government for help."

Borah pointed out that although sit-downs had been universally condemned as illegal "the fact still remains that the men are in the plants and you can't get them out unless you use force."

"There are only two alternatives," Borah said. "As for myself, I prefer that every possible effort to settle the matter peacefully be exhausted before force is used."

DECISION SEEN AS HEAVY BLOW TO CITRUS MEN

Superior Judge Warner's decision declaring "conditional contracts" illegal at San Bernardino yesterday may be a severe blow to the California-Arizona prorate, Harold E. Wahlberg, Orange county Farm advisor said.

The contracts provide the means by which citrus growers assign crops to two or more shippers, allowing packing houses to duplicate prorate allocations.

Important Bearing
This decision was made in a suit brought by C. M. Brown, Redlands grower and prorate leader, against the Growers' Advisory Committee of California A.A.A. Since Brown is a member of the committee he was both plaintiff and a defendant in the case.

Wahlberg stated this decision would have a vital bearing on any area where the prorate now is enforced and that it would appear unfair to the growers signing two or more contracts should double up their allocations.

Depends on Estimates
"Any extensive practice along this line would unbalance or defeat the purpose of the prorate," Wahlberg said.

"The prorate depends largely on estimates of production so that the district committee will have an accurate picture of the amount of fruit to be moved. If an excessive estimate is made, naturally a larger shipment will be made at the first of the season and the last part may be found short."

LAUNCH ATTACK ON MOLA ARMY

BILBAO, Spain, April 2.—(UP)—A fleet of loyalist bombing airplanes opened an offensive against the invading nationalist troops of Gen. Emilio Mola all along the Basque front today.

The air fleet roared over the insurgent lines with machine guns spitting and bombs falling on troop concentrations along the 100-mile front.

On the ground a Basque army of 75,000 men continued a counter-attack and an offensive designed to protect Bilbao and free the Basque provinces of Navarre, Alava and Guipuzcoa.

Mola's advance elements, which broke through the loyalist lines in the vicinity of Mount Gorbica yesterday, were forced back today, army dispatches said.

Modern Implements
Fighting under the green, red and white flag of the Basque autonomous government, instead of the purple, red and gold flag of republican Spain, the Basque army, in training for months, took the field equipped with the most modern implements of war in a campaign loyalist leaders hoped would break the back of nationalist resistance.

They were spurred on by word of continued loyalist success on other fronts—a southern army moved to within 18 miles of Cordoba; another government force advanced to the environs of Burgos, the insurgent capital, and still another threatened Avila, general field headquarters of Gen. Francisco Franco, nationalist leader.

Jose Antonio De Aguirre, a lawyer, first president, premier and minister of war of the Basque republic of a million people, seized a rifle, although he has had no military experience, and fought in the front ranks of his army.

Results: Singles: Marshall (T) d. Hull (W), 6-3, 6-0. H. Stevens (T) d. Blower (W), 6-1, 6-1. Kier (W) d. Salisbury (T) 6-1, 6-1. Carmichael (W) d. Holderman (T) 6-3, 6-4. ## WPA PICKETS SPREAD STRIKE strike in an effort to obtain a 10 per cent wage increase which they said has been granted by the federal administration, but has never been put into effect. They also seek guarantees work relief rolls will not be reduced again before July 1.

Harold E. Pomeroy, state direct relief administrator, announced in Sacramento that W.P.A. strikers could expect no aid from his department.

Opposition Develops
Opposition to the strike developed at the San Francisco sewing project, where Mrs. Theone Armstrong, first aid nurse, said 1442 of 1500 women had signed a petition protesting the walkout.

Demand for police protection came from Edward F. Blum, Suro forest worker, who said pickets had threatened workers going to the project today.

Pomeroy said the administration did not consider the walkout a bonafide labor dispute, but that the strikers had voluntarily separated themselves from work relief rolls and were not eligible for direct aid.

Chairman Named
John Osterman, of the bureau forestry department, said a number of pine and cedar trees are still available for planting this spring and that they might be obtained either by contacting him or W. M. Cory, assistant farm adviser.

L. P. Halderman, vice president, was appointed chairman of the newly organized Recreational department which will have the supervision over work of the farm bureau chorus and to develop ideas for farm center entertainment committees. This group will also take an active part in the social and recreational side of the bureau's activities.

The farm bureau picnic has been set for May 15 and Assistant Farm Adviser Cory and Halderman will be in charge of making arrangements for this event.

The next directors' meeting will be held May 3 at the Farm Bureau's new home in Orange.

MRS. VANDERMAST ILL
Mrs. Asa Vandermast is resting easily after a slight stroke of paralysis suffered this morning at her home, 425 South Birch street. She will not be permitted to see friends for several days, according to members of the family.

FARM BUILDING PLAN APPROVED BY DIRECTORS

A program for alterations of the new Farm Bureau building at 353 South Main street, Orange, was approved by the board of directors of the organization at their meeting yesterday.

The offices will be moved to the new headquarters during the later part of April and open house will be held on May 6, from 2 to 4 p. m.

The directors also agreed to support a state bill which asked the appropriation of $1,000,000 for grounds and buildings in connection with the Los Angeles Live-stock show. These funds will come from the Parimutuel racing funds.

Change in Laws
This action was taken by the directors because it was felt that the winter livestock show was an asset to Southern California and that most of the parimutuel funds are raised in this section of the state, officials said.

A change in the citrus standardization laws found the approval of the directors who affirmed the action of the Farm Bureau citrus department which had previously been given power to work out a proposed draft of legislation seeking to amend the standardization law.

Under the new proposal, navel oranges would be considered mature after January 15 when they had reached a ratio of sugar to acid of 7-1-2 to 1.

Chairman Named
John Osterman, of the bureau forestry department, said a number of pine and cedar trees are still available for planting this spring and that they might be obtained either by contacting him or W. M. Cory, assistant farm adviser.

PIT TO BE DUG AS EXPERIMENT IN NOVEL PLAN

After conferring for more than two hours on possibilities of conserving water now flowing through Santiago Creek and into the ocean either through wells or pits, directors of the Orange County Water District, late yesterday approved the digging of one experimental pit.

On motion of C. A. Palmer, member of the board and secretary of the district, Directors W. C. Mauerhan and William Wallop were named members of a committee to work with Paul Bailey, engineer for the district, Frank H. Collins, president of the Orange County Chamber of Commerce and secretary of the Serrano Water Company and Marion Tuppen, to locate a site and ascertain the cost of a test pit 250 deep.

The special committee is to make a survey of available sites Saturday morning and will report back to the directors at a second meeting, to be called soon.

A. W. Rutan, attorney for the district, advised directors to wait before sinking either a pit or a well to see whether or not the flood control plan, which would solve the water waste problem, through a 25-foot addition to the Santiago Dam or a program now being prepared by the Serrano and Orange Park Acres Mutual Water Company, materialize.

Rutan pointed out that construction of either a pit or a well would require so much time that it would not conserve a great deal of water this year and would cost considerable money. He advised a delay, saying that if neither of the plans now under way materializes, then the pits or wells could be constructed in time to handle next year's flood water.

Conferring with directors Collins said it is his estimate that approximately 2200 feet of water will be wasted this year through Santiago Creek. A pit 250 feet deep and shored with redwood timber would cost approximately $1500 and would demonstrate what amount of water could be conserved through this method.

Bailey, in a report on his investigation said construction of either a pit or well would require from two weeks to 16 days at the shortest time. His report also revealed that 41 days were the greatest time for overflow waters through the creek to drop to the point where natural absorption would sink it into the underground basin without waste into the ocean.

Directors William Schumacher, Roy Browning and Chairman Willis T. Warner were absent. Director Frank Champion served as chairman pro tem.

TWO ARE JAILED

Frederick Westfield, 76, one-time sailor, of 316 North Parton, and James M. Carson, 70, one-time cook, of 1015½ West Second, who were arrested Wednesday afternoon that both were jailed on drunk charges, were given 10-day jail terms, both terms suspended, by City Judge J. G. Mitchell yesterday.

CUT IN FIRST CLASS POSTAL RATES SOUGHT

Santa Ana's Business Men's Association is co-operating with the National Retail Credit Association of St. Louis and other national business organizations in an effort to secure a one-cent reduction of first class postal rates.

Phil Brown, secretary manager of the Business Men's Association, yesterday sent out questionnaires to local business men relative to their use of the mails and asking whether or not they would use first class instead of third class postage if the rates were reduced.

The questionnaire was sent out at the request of the National Retail Credit Association which is preparing to join other organizations in an appearance before the House Ways and Means Committee requesting that first class postage be dropped from three cents to two. The present law, establishing the three-cent rate, expires July 1, this year.

It is the intention of organizations that will be represented at the hearing to present evidence showing that post office department will suffer no great loss, if any, in the event the first class rate is cut.

One-half of the infants in the United States show some signs of rickets during their growth, according to estimates.

Dance Orchestra Engaged to Play At Jaysee Dance

That Gil Evans and his Rendezvous orchestra have been secured for the annual Fiesta dance at Santa Ana Junior college was announced by Polly Angne, dance chairman, today.

One of the features of the Junior college annual Fiesta is a dance at which all seniors of Orange county high schools are guests. The orchestra is one of the most popular in this region, providing the latest in dance tunes, Miss Angne said.

This year the event will be held Friday, May 14. Plans are already underway for one of the most outstanding affairs ever produced under the general chairmanship of Charles McIntyre.

McIntyre is being assisted in his work by various committees. These include John Ramirez, program; Henrietta Rurup, supper; Dave Phoenix, arena and ox cart; Ed Ward Velarde, publicity and advertising; Eloise Walker, costumes; Bob Bradley, booths.

Betty Lee, lunch; Gloria Kirchner and Lawrence Trickey, hospitality; Gordon Bishop, school exhibits and parade; Jack Wallace, tickets; Kenneth Nisley, bull fight; Polly Angne, dance; and June Licht, decorations.

Thomas H. Glenn is faculty adviser for the affair.

ORANGE SUED IN SANTA ANA, THAT IS, MRS. ORANGE HALL

Orange was sued for $15 in Santa Ana today. The suit, in Judge Kenneth Morrison's Santa Ana justice court, is styled, "Peter F. Benthien vs. Orange Hall." It will be heard in small claims court April 9 at 10 a. m.

Benthien, former operator of the Pennant cafe, located several years ago where the Main cafeteria now is, stated Orange, who is Mrs. Orange Hall of 1238 South Van Ness, Santa Ana, owes him on a water bill and for personal property. Benthien said he purchased a property in the northern section of Santa Ana from Mrs. Hall, with the understanding he was to get all of the furniture and other equipment of the home. He didn't expect to get the due bill for water, but he did expect to get two rugs, pictures and an end table which he saw had been left stored in the garage, he said.

When the deal was completed, Benthien said he found the material stored in the garage, gone. Mrs. Hall explained she had allowed friends to store the material in the garage and it wasn't her privilege to let Benthien have it—therefore she removed and returned it. But Benthien thinks Orange should pay. Benthien lives at 826 Cypress, Santa Ana.

Police News

On report of Justice A. T. Hayden, Tustin, that a man "believed drunk" and a woman who "was drunk" were headed toward Santa Ana in an automobile yesterday.

Santa Ana police made a search for the pair and their car but was unable to locate them. The judge reported the man was driving.

Edward Blissett, 319 East Washington, reported a Brea youth assaulted and drove recklessly at Washington and Main streets yesterday.

day and nearly ran over him and his bicycle. Blissett at first wanted the youth arrested and said he was willing to sign a complaint, but Detective Lieutenant Charles Wolford, acting as "mediator," had the "case" settled "out of court." No arrest was made.

An abandoned bicycle, found by P. W. Underwood, 1103 West Chestnut, yesterday, was returned to the owner, Fred Hotchkiss, 1111 West Chestnut, by city police last evening. Stephen Lara, 1815 West Second, yesterday reported theft of his red and white "Hawthorne" bicycle, valued at $10. It was stolen Wednesday night.

Local Civitan Club Will Get Grant Saturday

FINCH IS WINNER IN CLUB SPEECHES

Braden Finch was accorded first place last night, for his talk delivered before members of El Camino chapter of Toastmasters International in Daniger's cafe. Joe Daniger and W. H. (Ted) Blandford tied for second place. Finch spoke on the many odd inventions that have been submitted for patents. Phil Hood was his critic.

Blandford discussed "March of Time," with Paul Alberts as critic, and Daniger spoke on "Where Shall They Go?" Malcolm Macurda was his critic. This was Daniger's first talk since joining the club and in his address he outlined the stigma placed on boys after they leave the Whittier state school.

Other speakers on the program presented by Robert Hockaday, as toastmaster for the evening, included Dr. R. E. Watson on the topic "Dog-gone," with Dale Griggs as critic and E. H. Layton, who reported on the traffic accident situation. His critic was Nolan Doss.

The table topic was "Should Local Merchants Establish Minimum Hours and Wages for Their Employees?"

V. OF F. W. READY FOR RITES TONIGHT

With a large class of recruits to be initiated into Ernest Kellogg post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, tonight the prize-winning drill team from the South Gate post will take charge of the ritualistic work, according to an announcement from the post today. The meeting will start at 8 p. m. and be held in Knights of Pythias hall.

While members of the post are holding their monthly session the auxiliary will meet with both groups combining for refreshments and a social hour following the business sessions.

VICTIM IN TRIPLE MURDER

Beautiful Veronica Gedeon, popular blond artist's model, entered her New York apartment recently after a late date only to fall in the hands of a waiting fiend. She was killed and then her mother, Mrs. Mary Gedeon, was choked to death. Frank Byrnes, a roomer, was fatally stabbed. The victims were buried yesterday, with 5,000 attending the rites.

The girl's father, Joseph Gedeon, has been held for investigation in connection with the ghastly crime.

FARM CENTERS MEET TONIGHT

A special meeting of the Tustin and Garden Grove Farm centers with the county bean department will be held tonight at the Talbert school at 8:30 o'clock.

Larry Teasdale, assistant manager of the California Lima Bean Growers' association will be the speaker. Much concern, it is said is being felt over the fact that growers of blackeye beans this year are planning on planting lima beans, due to the unusual amount of rain and the high prices that are expected for limas.

New "Styles" In Telephone Book To Be Seen Here

Announcement of a new type telephone book for Santa Ana, to be off the press June 1 was made today by C. I. McDonald, district manager for the Southern California Telephone company. The book will go to press April 20, McDonald said.

The new book will be the same size as those issued in Los Angeles, Pasadena and San Diego, according to McDonald. The Santa Ana book, McDonald said, naturally will not be so thick as those issued in the larger cities.

The change in style was made because of the growth of the city and the fact that a larger book permitted the use of larger type and greater display, particularly in the classified section.

Frances Willard

Mrs. Allen, advisor of the Echo and member of the faculty at Willard, has taken a months leave of absence from school. She is replaced during this time by Mr. Westby, substitute teacher.

A new exchange editor and two reporters have been selected by Mr. Westby. They are Fern Hendrix, Betty Preble and Marjorie Brown. Mr. Westby is taking charge of an eighth grade journalism class, English, social studies, business training and the Echo.

Concluding the business meeting of eighth grade Girl Reserves recently at Miss Cook's house, an interesting visit was made to Bowers Memorial Museum.

There the girls saw the exhibit of dolls from many lands. After the guide explained the history of the dolls and accompanying clothes, the girls enjoyed walking through the museum to see other historical objects of interest.

The second Commissioners' dance will be held on April 2, in Willard cafeteria, from 7:30 to 10:30 p. m. The mothers and fathers are to act as chaperones. Recordings of Don Randall's orchestra will furnish the music.

Miss Green's High 9 class is going to exhibit spring fashions by way of bolero and jacket dresses in Willard hall showcases. The dresses are fashioned of bright cotton prints.

A lively, get acquainted skating party for all Santa Ana Girl Scouts was held Monday, at the rink on Fourth and Van Ness avenue.

Vic Rowland, Santa Ana Junior college journalist and staff member of El Don, spoke yesterday to the journalism 1 in room 212.

Vic discussed the work and possibility open to the reporter on a present day newspaper.

"Accuracy, speed and initiative are what count," Vic stated.

COUNTY'S FISH RESERVE LOOMS

Prospects of the state legislature adopting Orange county's measure creating a fish reserve off the coast are bright, according to Dan Mulherson, who has just returned from Sacramento. Mulherson and Leslie Kimmell spent several days this week in the state capital in the interest of this measure.

The bill setting up a fish reserve two miles seaward from the northern and the southern boundary of the county, passed the legislature last session only to be thrown out later on a technicality. Mulherson said the error in the bill has been corrected and indications are that the measure will be approved.

Senator Harry Westover and Assemblyman Clyde Watson both pledged their support to the measure and said they expected to have the measure out of the committee and on the floor within two weeks.

"Black Maria" Takes 11 Men To Mexico

In the United States immigration department's "black maria," the screened-in truck which hauls border jumpers back to their native soils, 11 Mexican men left yesterday for Mexico.

There they will be unloaded and sent across the border into Mexico. The men were arrested in a recent El Modena raid by Franklin Davis, local immigration officer, and other officers, and booked at county jail on charges they entered this country illegally.

FARLEY POINTS TO 5-YEAR GAIN FOR AIR MAIL

BY ALLAN DIBBLE

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON (UP)—The domestic air mail system of the United States—started with a single line between Washington and New York in 1918—has become one of the largest and most efficient in the world.

The first route was 215 miles in length. Today the domestic air mail system includes more than 25,000 route miles, over which carriers flew more than 40,000,000 miles last year.

"This new and greatly improved and expanded service is being provided at an annual cost of $7,000,000 less than was expended in 1932 for the limited and inadequate service operated in those days," said Postmaster General James A. Farley.

The postmaster general reported 15,377,000 pounds of domestic air mail were transported during the last fiscal year, compared to approximately 10,000,000 pounds in 1935 and approximately 6,000,000 in 1933.

He estimated the United States dispatched 26 per cent and received 22 per cent more foreign air mail during fiscal 1936 than during the previous year.

"The people of the nation demand, and rightly so, that the postoffice department keep pace with the march of transportation progress in the swift and efficient transmission of the U. S. mails," Farley said.

Farley estimated the department paid $165,000,000 during fiscal 1936 for mail transportation service. This sum was approximately 23 per cent of the department's total expenditures, he said.

Air mail transportation costs consume 14 cents of each dollar of revenue received by the department, Farley said.

The postmaster general said legislation enacted as result of the senate investigation into airmail and ocean mail subsidies safeguarded the steady growth of the domestic system.

"Contracts are now let by real competitive bidding and changes in pay rates can only be made by the interstate commerce commission," Farley said.

"Evils and wastes existing in the administration of ocean and airmail subsidies were brought to light. The revelation of these evils by Senator Black's committee resulted in legislation which has thrown new safeguards around these subsidies," Farley declared.

HOBOWATER, N. J. (UP)—

A grizzled veteran of box cars and hobos walked to the police desk here with a slender youth in tow. "This kid is too young to be prowling round with us," the tramp said. "I am turning him over to you. You better tell his folks to come and get him."

News! One Union Pickets Another

As a result of a dispute between the Alaska Fishermen's Union and the Master, Mates and Pilots' Association at Seattle, Wash., a cannery tender was picketed by members of the fishermen's union. Pickets bore banners which read: "Masters, Mates and Pilots' Local Unfair to Organized Labor."

FORMER ORANGE COUNTY MAN SHEDS NEW LIGHT ON ORIENT IN HIS BOOK, "SON OF HAN"

By ELEANOR YOUNG ELLIOTT

It is a long step from garage management in Orange county to a professorship at Stanford University. In the literary world, it is an equally long step from technical articles and college textbooks, to a work of fiction. But both steps have been taken in the stride of a former Orange county man, now assistant professor of sociology at Stanford, Richard LaPiere, son of Mrs. Ella June LaPiere and brother of Mrs. Frederick C. Elliott, 2110 North Ross street.

It is matter of much interest to friends of Mrs. LaPiere and Mr. and Mrs. Elliott, to know that a book by their son and brother, who is well known in county circles, is to be issued this spring by Harper Brothers, and has met with such enthusiasm at the famous publishing house, that it is being featured as one of the company's occasional "Finds."

Before Invasion
"Son of Han" is the title Richard LaPiere has given his first essay into the field of fiction, and for material he has gone to the China of the period just before the invasion of the continent. If we accept as a truism, the ancient cliché that "One half of the world does not know how the other half lives," we must also admit that each half is eager for information regarding the lives of the other half.

This information comes flowing in the pages of "Son of Han" and will introduce readers to a world and a civilization vastly different from fields hitherto developed by writers on the Orient. Its people are not of the peasantry made familiar through such books as Pearl Buck's "The Good Earth." Instead they are of the wealthy merchant class, those to whom education and culture are of first importance and who may thus attain to the rank of mandarin.

The book is a tale of frustration, as one by one the generations of the house of Han fail to attain the coveted Scholarship of the Third Order. Yet strangely enough, it is a tale of realization as well, for the hopes of the patriarch in each succeeding generation, are realized. This provides the "conflict" so necessary to a successful piece of fiction, and as the tale unfolds, the characters are made so vital that their hopes, their ambitions, their bitter disappointments are as real to the reader as though they were the emotions and experiences of the accident with which he is familiar. It is the life story of Te-Lin, the "Little Dragon," and his ambitions that Richard LaPiere has told so understandingly, and with such characteristics and customs. And "Little Dragon" is one of the most convincingly real characters that a book could well offer.

Description Realistic
A power of description used by the author, makes the Chinese scene quite as real as the characters, and the descriptive passages are so simply and so well done, and contribute so greatly to the atmosphere of the book, that there isn't one word that a reader will skip over lightly.

According to LaPiere, his first plan was to write a sociological monograph on the classical Chinese social system. His close associations while a student at Stanford University, with a group of Chinese students, one of whom, Wang Cheng, was his roommate over a period of years, gave him opportunity to make an exhaustive study of the subject.

His dissatisfaction with the monograph led him to attempt to use the material in fiction form, and "Son of Han" is the result, after several years of study and revision. Harper Brothers accepted it at once, although LaPiere's earlier book, "Social Psychology," written in collaboration with Paul Farnsworth, associate professor of psychology at Stanford University, was published by McGraw-Hill. He is also working on another college textbook on collective behavior which will be published next year.

Adventurous Life
Although he is still a young man, LaPiere has crowded many adventures into his life. He left University of Wisconsin to enlist in the signal corps in 1917, from which he was discharged after 18 months, mostly in France, with the rank of sergeant in the air service. Joining his mother in Hollywood, he became interested in ranching and attended Davis Agricultural college, later coming to Laguna Beach to own and operate a garage.

In 1923 he enrolled at Stanford, graduating in sociology in 1926, with a Phi Beta Kappa key, and the following year received his Master's degree in social psychology. A year of travel and study in Europe; a return to Stanford as teaching assistant in sociology; winning his Ph. D. and eventually the post of assistant professor of sociology at the university, with a similar position during the summer sessions at U.C.L.A., are phases of his career.

MEDICINE MAN WINS TRIBUTE FROM SCIENCE

BY G. FREDERICK MULLEN

United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UP)—

Successful treatments of functional diseases by the modern physician and surgeon cannot compare with the record of cures attained by the shaman (medicine man), says bulletin of the Associates in the Science of Society at Yale University edited by Prof. James G. Leyburn.

Modern medicine will begin to approach "the arts of the shaman in effectiveness" when it becomes not only a biological but a social and psychological science as well. The article states that when "our physicians and surgeons approach the record of the shaman, the millennium of medicine will be near."

Scientific medicine deserves its plaudits, but "they give no grounds for the common practice of deprecating primitive shamanism. The medicine man, the witch doctor, the shaman, was a creature of superstition—granted. But he got results. He actually cured patients." Fewer Diseases Encountered Leyburn admits the shaman had few genuine diseases to cope with as under primitive conditions most people die in prime of life, through accident, in war, etc., and few reach old age. As a result, the shaman rarely has to deal with cancer, heart disease or other degenerative ailments of old age. And he is seldom an obstetrician, so infant and maternal deaths are not chargeable to him.

Few communicable diseases are known to savage society, while modern society has not only collected artifacts and food plants from every part of the world, but also diseases. Diseases are localized under primitive conditions due to lack of intensive intercommunication, so medicine men had not the same problem as the modern physician.

"Prior to European contact, the primitive shaman faced few communicable diseases, and to the few that he faced his patients enjoyed a natural immunity."

According to the article, scientific medicine is oriented to deal with biologically induced or "organic" ailments and leaves the socially or mentally induced or "functional" complaints to psychiatrists, faith healers and quacks. Primitive medicine was exactly the reverse as the majority of the shaman's patients suffered from social or psychological problem.

"Although phrased, to be sure, in terms of witchcraft or some similar theory or supernatural causation, these problems were ordinarily soluble by a person possessing insight and an intimate knowledge of personalities and personal relationships in a small community. Even with us, the general practitioner in a small town often succeeds, through personal familiarity with his patients and with the community situation, where a better trained but impersonal city specialist fails."

Records of miraculous cures of saints and prophets, Christian Science and Coueism, are just beginning to find scientific explanation in psychiatry and psychoanalysis. "The shaman was able to muster to his aid the same ill understood mental processes and to achieve success as striking as those of latter-day faith healers."

"Though operating upon an erroneous theory, he could count on absolute faith. His patients never dreamed of denying his premises; he had no skepticism to contend with. He succeeded, sometimes at least, where the ordinary physician of today, operating solely upon a theory of biological causation, inevitably fails."

Just 36 years ago, the scientific world first suspected the existence of the okapi. Sir Harry Johnston found natives, in Africa, wearing curiously marked skins, and eventually traced them to their source.

WEATHER STUDY TO BE MINUTE

COLUMBUS, O. —(UP)—Five hundred men and women will get jobs as soon as weather observers in Eastern Ohio's $43,000,000 flood control project to begin the most detailed study of atmospheric conditions ever attempted in a concentrated area.

The Muskingum Watershed Conservancy District and the 24 counties that comprise it will be turned into a huge weather recording experimental ground by the state WPA. Five hundred weather stations will be manned by observers taken from relief rolls of those counties and paid WPA wages.

Weather data gathered by these observers from an area covering 8,000 square miles is expected by Dr. Carl Watson, Ohio WPA administrator, to aid the Federal government invaluable in future flood and drought control efforts.

Definite Data Sought
Government agencies hope the project will answer these questions:

What is the ideal spacing of weather bureau stations?

Can a new method for determining flood hazards be found?

Where should shelter belts of trees be planted to prevent erosion by wind?

Study of storm characteristics, their extent, migration tendencies, total water content, and the pattern of the rate of fall will comprise the work of rural relief observers about four hours a day, seven days a week. During rainstorms readings will be taken every 15 minutes.

Simultaneous readings will be taken by observers—to be stationed 4-12 miles apart—with instruments which will include an intensity rain gauge, wet and dry bulbs, thermometers, psychrometer wind vane and wind velocity meters.

Weekly Maps to Be Made

Observation records will be reported each night to headquarters of the climatic survey at New Philadelphia, O., where 80 other WPA office workers will tabulate the information and make 2,500 maps weekly to be forwarded to Washington for study.

The information gathered will be available to the conservancy district, U. S. soil conservation service, forest service, U. S. weather bureau, division of crop estimates, and the Ohio State agricultural experiment station.

A similar undertaking but on a much smaller scale is being conducted in Oklahoma in connection with dust storms.

SOIL LOSS SET AT 400 MILLION YEARLY IN U. S.

By FRED O. BAILEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States is squandering its soil resources at the rate of more than $400,000,000 a year, according to H. H. Bennett, Chief of the Soil Conservation Service of the Department of Agriculture.

Bennett, who has been crusading for 10 years for soil conservation, estimated 100,000,000 acres of agricultural land already has been ruined or seriously impoverished by erosion during the past 100 years. Erosion has gained headway on another 200,000 acres, he said.

Millions of gullied farms, washed bare of top soil are "grim evidence that the people of this youthful nation have been squandering their rich heritage of productive soil more rapidly than any other nation, civilized or barbaric, of which we have any record," Bennett said.

More Fertilizer Required
The nation's soil plant is becoming less and less productive because of wind and water erosion, Bennett said. Fertilizer must be used in ever increasing quantities, he said. This has added considerably to the cost of crops.

"Unless we make rapid advance against the inroads of soil erosion, the cumulative cost to the nation during the next 50 years is likely to exceed $20,000,000,000 and may easily extend to beyond $30,000,000,000," Bennett said.

He recalled a recent tour of the southern Piedmont, where he crossed a country embracing 278,000 acres, two-thirds of which was ruined for further cultivation by erosion.

"Gullies—tens of thousands of them—have hideously slashed the bottom of the rich earth, laying waste the land and, with it, the fine old plantation homes that formerly graced the countryside; and, most tragic of all, impoverishing, socially and economically, those who have known no way to live except by the beneficence of the land," Bennett said.

HELPS AVOID MANY COLDS

Especially designed aid for nose and upper throat, where most colds start. Used in time, helps prevent many colds.

VICKS VA-TRO-NOL

READ AND Use the WANT-ADS

Work of Ages Whisked Away
Nature takes thousands of years to build an inch thick layer of soil, Bennett said. If nature's protection for that soil—grass and trees—are removed wind and rain may sweep away in a few hours the work of centuries.

"It is somewhat alarming to realize that over a vast area nature is removing this irreplaceable asset (soil) a hundred or a thousand times faster than she is creating it, simply because we have ignored her fundamental laws. "Erosion, in the geological sense, is older than man. Even under primeval conditions rain and wind gnawed away the soil base, washing some topsoil down to the sea or scattering a little of it here and there by wind.

U. S. Called Most Wasteful
"But, probably no nation in history has been so wasteful of soil or so oblivious to the natural laws governing its stability as the United States. There are many reasons for this.

"Only a little while ago this was a pioneer country, exuberant, impatient, and over-optimistic about the inexhaustibility of its natural resources. It was perhaps inevitable that our ancestors should mine the soil with little thought of future consequences.

"In their eagerness to grow crops, and still more crops to feed the hungry mouths of an expanding industrial civilization, they cut down trees and burned the underbrush. They turned the sod and plowed the steep slopes, stripping the land of its native mantle of vegetation, leaving it unprotected against the erosive forces of wind and water."

SALVAGE CREW MAY DYNAMITE LUSITANIA HULL

LONDON (UP)—Salvage operations in the former Cunard liner Lusitania, which was torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine in 1915, with a loss of 1,198 lives, are expected to break the ship under water by explosives.

Two obstacles hitherto have prevented the salvage of the Lusitania, which, in addition to its value as scrap metal, is believed to contain considerable jewelry. The first was ignorance of the position of the hull, and the second the lack of suitable diving equipment.

The liner is believed to have been located by echo-sounder apparatus by Capt. Henry B. Russell, of Glasgow, in command of an expedition in the 450-ton Ophir in October, 1935, at a point 112 miles from Kingsale Head, Ireland. The sounder recorded an object 750 feet long and 84 feet in height. These were the dimensions of the Lusitania.

Subsequently, a diver, James Jarratt, descended to the vessel and stood on the deck, but was compelled by rough weather to return to the surface before he made extensive explorations.

At Depth of 300 Feet

The giant liner lies in more than 300 feet of water, while the ordinary diving-dress is limited to a maximum depth of 150 feet. This obstacle has been overcome by the invention by J. A. Peress of an all-metal diving suit capable, it is said, of working at a depth of over 1,300 feet.

This suit has been tested in Loch Ness at depths of 400 feet, and in a pressure tank at a pressure of 600 pounds per square inch, which corresponds to a depth of 1,820 feet, according to Peress. With it the Argonaut Corporation, which is the salvage firm concerned, plans the salvage of six other vessels, and the undertaking of spoils, pearl and shell (mother-of-pearl) fishing. The world's shallow-water pearl and sponge beds are in many localities approaching exhaustion, and the new diving suit is said to have opened the possibility of exploiting deep-living beds.

The new diving suit represents a different method in that employed by the Italian salvage ship Artiglio, which has recovered some $4,000,000 in bar gold from the liner Egypt. Peress has worked on the suit since 1913, and began about 1929 to achieve success.

Pressure Restricts Mobility

The problem was to articulate the arms and legs of the suit while preserving water-tightness and freedom of movement. Ordinarily, jointing is made immobile from friction under the enormous pressure of water. American inventors constructed a ball-bearing joint, which still suffered from great stiffness.

Peress found some success with a joint embodying oil-filled rub-

Snow Shoveling Quins Present New Nurses

Busy as they are with their thriving snow game, the quintuplets find time to introduce the two new nurses who have been added to the staff at the Callander nursery. At left is Miss Claire Tremblay of Windsor, expert in child education, who will continue the quins' instruction in French. In the peaked snow helmet is Miss Mollie O'Shaughnessy of North Bay, new relief nurse. Their initiation at quintuplet quarters is rather hectic, with Cecile, Marie, Annette, Yvonne and Emilie, left to right, gleefully plying their shovels.

ber balls, but after an hour's use these balls would break up. Finally he based his design on the human joint, employing a "synovium" containing oil. It is said that the limb is so freely suspended that it is swayed by the tide, and that the claw operates so delicately that single coins can be picked up and ropes can be reeved with it.

The suit contains its own supply of oxygen sufficient for 9 or 10 hours, and is in telephonic communication with the salvage ship. Thus, it is hoped, the diver will be able to penetrate any part of a sunken vessel, place charges, and remove portable objects.

The method employed by the Artiglio is the lowering of divers in a shell containing windows—and, in one case, "arms" and "legs." From this they direct, by telephone, the lowering of a grab, or a suction mechanism, and signal when the jaws are to be closed.

CUBA'S RETURN TO ONE-PARTY SYSTEM SEEN

HAVANA, (UP)—Asserting that they will have more than 100,000 members by April, organizers of a new political party, "Cuba on the March," or "Cuba on the March," have outlined the organization's program and policies, which show a pronounced tendency to support Col. Fulgencio Batista and the army.

Most of the organizers are nonentities, men hitherto unknown in the political field and even in most of the national activities of the nature. The president of the organizing committee is Francisco de Miranda Varona, paymaster of the National Tuberculosis Council, one of the corporations formed by Batista. He was one of the many political exiles during the Machado regime, and was an organizer of the Grau San Martin "Autentico" in the province of Camaguey for a short time before deserting the Grau cause. Later he became identified with the Nationalist Union party, but never as a figure of national prominence.

Belief exists that this new party is being formed under the patronage of the Cuban army, perhaps to aid in giving impetus to the reported plan of Batista and other high army officials to weld all of the Cuban political groups into a single party similar to the action taken by General Machado in 1928, when he amended the constitution of Cuba to permit himself to serve a second term as president.

Opposition is Reported

This plan of Batista was said to be meeting with considerable opposition even among the leaders of the political parties in Congress who obeyed his orders in impeaching and removing President Miguel Mariano Gomez. They were said to have recalled to Batista what happened when Machado unified the political groups and brought the country to revolution.

The motto of "Cuba on the March" is "Not with Moscow, nor with Rome, but with Marti," meaning, of course, that the party's principles are neither Communist nor Fascist, but are based on the liberal democracy of Cuba's great revolutionary patriot.

However, many points in the program show a strict adherence to the army's corporative system.

For example, the program includes establishment of a Senate on a corporative basis, and the intensification of the further development of technical institutions, such as those controlled by the army, as schools, health and philanthropic corporations.

Forty-Hour Week Sought

The program supports a semi-parliamentary system of government with a cabinet to be headed by a premier, nationalization of private properties through a wide progressive program to break up large landholdings; creation of a national bank of emission and redemption; nationalization of public utilities; obligatory unionization of both employers and workers; establishment of maximum working hours in accordance with the number of unemployed in each class of industry, and establishment of a general maximum working week of 40 hours; recognition of the principle of workers to share in profits; establishment of a wide social security program, covering unemployment, illness, old age and death; establishment of laws to provide livelihood for sugar workers during the "dead season," and the suppression of monopolies of agricultural products.

Those and other points in the program are regarded as inclining more toward Fascist principles than those of Socialism.

Miranda Varona told the United Press that he and his colleagues had no sympathy for the leaders of political parties, but that he is "an old and good friend of Batista, and an admirer of the colonel and his acts."

A list of the leaders of the new movement in the various provinces does not reveal the name of a single important office holder — in fact, most of the names are those of persons generally unknown in Havana. Many of them are members of the army reserve, which has been thoroughly organized throughout the island.

NPA WORKER HELD AS EXTORTIONIST

WASHINGTON, April 2.—(UP)—Director J. Edgar Hoover of the federal bureau of investigation today announced the arrest of Alton J. Jacobs, 27, a WPA worker at Glendale, Calif., in connection with an attempt to extort $5000 from R. Barcus, a former church musical director at Glendale.

Hoover said Barcus received a communication March 26 demanding $5000 "on pain of death or worse." The FBI said Jacobs admitted he was the author of the extortion note.

Jacobs is married and is the father of two children. He told federal agents he was a fiction writer, but at the time of his arrest was employed by the relief agency. Formerly he was a preacher in the Cosmopolitan Tabernacle church.

DIRECTOR GIVEN SIX MONTH TERM

LOS ANGELES, April 2.—(UP)—Del Andrews, veteran film director and scenarist, today started serving a voluntary six month term on the county road gang.

The director, connected with motion picture production for 20 years, asked that the sentence be imposed so he could get away from home.

MACDONALD SEEKS PEACE CONFERENCE

LONDON, April 2.—(UP)—The international sugar conference here today may be used as a stepping stone toward an Anglo-American move to promote world peace, it was learned today.

Former Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald is said to be the uncovering author of an ambitious scheme to use the routine sugar treaty for that purpose.

Norman H. Davis, the United States' roving ambassador, is expected shortly to confer with MacDonald on the prospects for such a plan.

Too Much Joke, And Can You Blame Him?

Practical jokes, on April Fool's day, or any other day of fun, may pass if not carried to extremes.

Rice of the Rice Shoe store, 41 West Fourth street, thinks too far. He knows what extremes are. Someone fastened an automobile "joker" bomb to the wiring under the hood of his car, parked in the alley near the store, yesterday. The bomb exploded when he started the car and blew an inch-long hole in the radiator, allowing all the water to run out. The bomb also shattered the hood. Officers W. B. Sherwood and Chet Gross drove Rice that if he could locate the jokers, he could take the matter to court in civil suit.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

By William Ferguson

WOLVERINES, THROUGH THEIR THIEVING HABITS, HAVE CAUSED MANY FATAL TRAGEDIES. BLOODSHED HAS RESULTED WHEN WOODSMEN BLAMED THEIR NEIGHBORS FOR UNCANNY THEFTS ACTUALLY COMMITTED BY THESE CRAFTY ANIMALS.

ALTHOUGH CHINCH-BUGS HAVE WINGS, THEY MIGRATE ON FOOT! AT ONE TIME, HIPPOPOTAMUS TUSKS WERE IN GREAT DEMAND FOR THE MANUFACTURE OF ARTIFICIAL TEETH.

THE wolverine seems to steal in pure malice. Not content with robbing a trap of its contents, the animal will make off with parts of the trap and hide them. Often it takes all the food it can hold, from a cabin, and then fouls with saliva that which it cannot remove.

POLITE INTRUDER DESCRIBED IN SHERIFF'S REPORTS HERE

Deputy Sheriff R. R. Lutes today filed five burglary investigation reports and one report relating the story of a polite beach visitor, who entered the summer home of a wealthy Los Angeles woman, set the alarm clock, borrowed the bed for the night, and, in the morning, left a "thank you" note.

Roy Lewis, Newport Beach in-charge and real estate man, had been occupying the beach home of Mrs. George A. Rogers, at 587 Edgewater, Balboa, at night, but remained away from the place last Friday night, after warning the night watchman. An unidentified person entered the home, moved the radio to a position near the bed, set the alarm and retired. In the morning he dressed, wrote a note, thanking the owners "for your hospitality" and left. Nothing was taken. The Rogers home, officials reported, has one acre of hardwood floors in its many rooms. Lutes reported the home was burglarized some time ago, when clothing and linens were stolen.

Burglaries being investigated include those at the Shell Oil company office, East Santa Fe street, Fullerton, where an attempt was made last Friday to open a floor safe, the place being ransacked without loss; Texaco office, North Glassell, Orange, where another attempt to smash a safe was made, a small amount of change being taken; Balboa Marine Hardware store, Balboa, where two outboard motors were taken after a thief smashed a window, cutting his hand.

J. L. Bogus residence, 611 Thirtieth street, Newport Beach, where thieves smashed a window, entered, smashed furniture and slashed drapes and the J. J. Dyer home, North West street, Anaheim, where a window screen was cut, fountain pen, revolver, silver platter and soap, taken.

DEARTH OF SUGAR BEETS IN COUNTY SEEN; CAUSED BY RAINS

TALBERT, April 2.—Due to excessive rains of the season there will be fewer sugar beets planted in the Talbert district this year than any year since the sugar beet industry began here it is stated by local ranchers.

The standing of the water on the land did not allow of the planting of the seeds at the proper time, and as it is now almost too late to bank on a satisfactory crop, many contracts made by ranchers with the sugar beet companies will become null and void, automatically, this clause being contained in the contracts which are made out some months before the planting season opens.

Among the latest beet crops to be planted, locally, is 100 acres on Bushard street, south of Talbert, which belongs to Allen and Ernest Gisler, who are among the most extensive growers in the district.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

MARTHA BRITAIN and BETTY HAYNES begin a trip up the west coast to demonstrate the new Airspeed trailer. They pick up GERRY NEAL, handsome young hitch-hiker. Neal tells them he is to meet a friend, JACK SPOON, at the Long Beach auto camp. But at Long Beach Neal disappears from the trailer and Spoon drives away with Betty, failing to return.

Francis, Martha calls police. Then she gets a wire, hours later, signed "Betty" and advising that Betty will meet her at a San Francisco hotel. Feverishly, Martha starts out, trying to trace Betty en route. Returning to her trailer the second day she is startled to meet Neal. He tells her that "this thing may be bigger" than she imagines.

She agrees to accompany Neal back to San Francisco the next day and Betty and Spoon, troubled because she feels more than an ordinary liking for Neal. Yet they do not know whether she should trust him. Next morning Neal wires the San Francisco hotel where Betty and Spoon were supposed to be staying. An immediate reply reveals neither registered there.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"BUT," said Neal, stuffing the telegram into his pocket, "she probably will be there when you arrive in San Francisco as per schedule, just as her message indicated. Now let's forget all this business, just for a day. Are you on?"

Martha was silent a moment. Then she nodded slowly. "I suppose I may as well. There doesn't seem to be anything I can do."

"You don't sound very enthusiastic," Neal laughed. "But I guarantee that a day here will make you feel differently."

She could hardly believe this could be true, but she reckoned without the combined charm of Gerry Neal and the country of Monterey Bay. When they left the table he suggested they inspect the little row of shops in the hotel. There was a sports shop, a gown shop, a little jewelry shop in itself a jewel. Each had its glass "front" giving into a lower hallway of the hotel, as if on a magic, sheltered street. Finally they turned a corner of the corridor to gaze into a great empty ballroom.

That's the famous ball room," Neal told her. "If you like, we can dance there tonight."

But he had many more plans before that. They rented bicycles and rode through the beautiful paths of Del Monte. They fed ducks on the little lake. They raced on the bicycles into Monterey, turning into the main street flushed and breathless. Neal swung alongside the curb and held up a hand in surrender. "I give up," he laughed. "You win the pre-lunch cocktail."

"I never use 'em," Martha said, flipping the stand under her bike's rear wheel. "But I'll have a cigarette and watch you."

Mary Kettler Is Honored At Party

SPRINGDALE, April 2.—Miss Mary Kettler was honored at a dinner party given by her mother, Mrs. John Kettler at the family home, surprising her upon a visit from Pomona college.

She was accompanied by two college friends. The party observed Miss Kettler's recent birthday anniversary which was also celebrated at

PERJURY COUNT WILL BE AIRED

Mrs. Maria Castro, former wife of Salvador Lopez, who was shot to death by Jesus Esquivel in Santa Ana eight years ago, was arraigned before Justice K. E. Morrison in Santa Ana late yesterday on a charge of perjury, based upon her testimony on behalf of her husband's accused slayer, who is now on trial for murder. Hearing was set for April 13, and bail at $1500.

Mrs. Castro, who is alleged to have told Assistant District Attorney James L. Davis that her husband never owned a gun, and therefore could not have fired upon Esquivel as the latter claimed in his own defense, later changed her story, it is claimed, and testified at the trial that Lopez did own a gun.

While being cross-examined by Davis in court, regarding her change of story, she admitted that she did it because of enmity toward the Lopez family, who had "treated her mean."

"You'd say anything to get even with them, wouldn't you?" Davis charged her.

"Not only anything, but everything," she retorted.

Later she explained that she meant "everything that was true."

HEART ATTACK IS FATAL TO MAN, 60

Henry Walters, 60, resident of Santa Ana for the past 17 years, died this morning at his home, 1805 East Fourth street, following a heart attack.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow from the Brown and Wagner chapel with the Rev. W. J. Hatter, rector of the Episcopal Church of the Messiah, officiating. Interment will be in Fairhaven cemetery.

In addition to his widow, Mrs. Mary P. Walters, he is survived by three brothers and a sister, all of whom are living in Kentucky.

CULT SCANDAL ENGULFS MANY

LOS ANGELES, April 2.—(UP)—U. S. Attorney Pierson Hall indicated today additional arrest warrants "if issued in the 'New Bethlehem' scandal involving John W. Hunt, follower of Father Divine's cult, and the 17-year-old girl he allegedly hoodwinked into believing she was a 'new Virgin Mary.'"

Hall, beyond saying several men and women would be involved in the investigation, did not indicate the identity of the persons whose arrest he expected to ask.

Hunt, 230-pound "assistant god" in the New York cult leader's flock, was being sought in Southern California on a Mann act charge. He is accused of transporting pretty Delight Jewett here from Denver to become the queen mother of a Beverly Hills offshoot of the Harlem cult.

Search for Hunt swung back here from New York with the discovery that only last Saturday he appeared at a Pasadena automobile works, announced himself as "Jesus The Christ," and inspected progress on a $40,000 "throne car."

MAGIC OF HARLEM IN LOCAL MOVIE

In view of the present scandal involving the cult of Father Divine considerable interest will be evinced in "Harlem's Black Magic," featured episode of the March of Time opening tomorrow at the West Coast theater, according to Lew Fountain, manager of Fox Theaters in Santa Ana.

Fountain said the episode vividly reveals that one-third of Harlem's 300,000 Negroes today are fanatical worshippers of the ancient witchcraft of the African Congo.

MAN IS HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Ben A. Carrillo, 31, San Juan Capistrano, was taken to Fullerton General hospital last night following an accident at Orange-thorpe and Brookhurst streets, half a mile east of Buena Park, about 7 o'clock in which the Carrillo car collided with the rear of a stalled truck in charge of Guadalupe Bermudez, 30, Route 1, Santa Ana.

Bermudez was repairing a tire; his truck had no warning flares out and he was ticketed for the offense.

CONTEST ON KITES HELD BY CHILDREN

More than 300 children are competing today in the annual kite contest at Fremont school.

The festival this year is introducing a new feature—competition for pinatas, Mexican dolls to be used as containers for nuts, candy and favors. Children of the school make the pinatas from paper bags, decorating them to resemble birds, butterflies and people.

The pinatas will be strung across the school grounds, attached to wires. After the judging they will be removed and the best will be kept in the school, to be filled with candy for a party to be held next week.

Food stuffs will be awarded as prizes in the kite contest, according to Mrs. Guy Gilbert, principal of the school. Judges for the event will be Milan Miller, Charles Collins and Jesus Parga, assisted by Mrs. Jessie Boyd and Mrs. Alice Keirsey of the school faculty.

ICKES ASKS SUIT ON SALE OF POWER

WASHINGTON, April 2.—(UP)—Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes today asked Attorney General Homer S. Cummings to institute suit to compel the city of San Francisco to cease sale of current from Hetch Hetchy dam to a private utility for distribution in the city.

The action was taken after San Francisco voters failed to ratify a charter to comply with the Raker act, which provides that current from the dam cannot be sold to a private utility.

Ickes has charged that the method of serving the city and county through the Pacific Gas & Electric company is illegal.

Court Notes

The will of the late Rev. Father Patrick Browne, Anaheim Catholic priest, who left a $92,000 estate, mostly to the church, was admitted to probate in superior court today by Superior Judge James L. Allen.

Superior Judge G. K. Scovel was on the sick list today, Judge James L. Allen presiding over the weekly session of probate court in his absence.

Letters of administration over the $2952 estate left by the late David L. McCharles, former justice of the peace at Tustin, were asked in a petition just filed in superior court by his widow, Florence E. McCharles, the widow and a son, Carl, of Berkeley, are legal heirs.

Trompeter and Company were plaintiffs today in a superior court suit against the Ole Hanson Building Company, to quiet title to 17 lots at San Clemente.

William J. Williams and Anna E. Williams have brought an action in superior court against J. S. Horn and others, to quiet title to 30 acres of land near Huntington Beach.

Suit to quiet title to certain Santa Ana property was filed today in superior court by Sadie Roehm, as administratrix of the Elizabeth J. Getchell estate, naming Nellie Shvester and Ethel Paul as defendants.

YESTERDAY'S HEROES

(This is the third of a series about former sports stars.)

BY RICHARD McCANN
NEA Service Sports Writer

GREENVILLE, S. C.—Fat as an alderman, Shoeless Joe Jackson is running a liquor store here and, says he, "doing a very nice business."

"I got two autos," says Joe, "and money in the bank. I'm happy."

But he'd be happy here, Joe would, even if business were bad and he were broke. You see, this is home to him. It was here, 29 years ago, that Shoeless Joe, a gangling youth, came out of the backwoods and started so blithely down the baseball trail that was to have such an unholy and unhappy ending.

It was here that they gave him the picturesque nickname, Shoeless Joe. You don't have to coax the oldest inhabitants to tell you how it came about.

Shoeless Joe, the story goes, was pitching one day—oh, sure, pitching, "cause Joe could do anything on the ball field, except, maybe, think—when his shoes (he wasn't much used to them) pinched him and raised blisters on his heels. They burned with pain, but Joe wasn't one to quit. He just pulled off those ornery shoes, heaved

EXPECT 40,000
AT OPENING OF COAST LEAGUE

BY JAMES S. SHEEHY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Anticipated, needed help from the majors came to two Pacific Coast league baseball clubs today to add further zest to the 1937 race, which starts tomorrow in four California cities.

Indications were that if fair weather prevails the "gate" at San Francisco, Los Angeles, Oakland and Sacramento will gross about 40,000 paid admissions—nearly a third more than attended last year's openers.

At Wrigley field, Los Angeles, the Angels open against their hottest rival, San Diego. The Missions and the Seals battle in San Francisco. Portland plays at Oakland, and Seattle in Sacramento.

The Portland Beavers, who over word that "Sailor Bill" Peadar, key pitcher in winning the 1936 championship, will be back soon from Cincinnati.

Seals Get Cub Southpaw

At Seals' stadium there was a similar tonic of assurance when the men managed by "Lefty" O'Doul heard that Southpaw Wes Flowers would be the final payment from the Chicago Cubs for Outfielder Joe Marty.

Posedel and George Caster won 45 games for Portland last year and leashed opponents during close ones when bats of Brucker, Bedore, Clabough and Frederick were silenced temporarily. With Posedel's return the Beavers likely will be a rough towel to any club, Manager Bill Sweeney believes.

O'Doul of the Seals has set 20 wins as a mark for Flowers. Players who saw him in the American association say he can do it—even though he won only about ten and lost as many last year.

Oakland—fair child of the New York Yankees—expects pitching aid soon from the world champions and Manager "Truck" Hannah of Los Angeles will ask the Chicago Cubs for reinforcements.

Sacs Could Surprise

Sacramento may be the hottest surprise in the league, but Manager Bill Killefer will rest much better during the coming week, valley days when the St. Louis Cardinals send additional tried hands. The Sacs believe they have the league's long-range hitter in Nick Cullip, former over-the-wall batsman of the American association.

San Diego and the Missions—veteran clubs—may get away a bit slower than some of their more sprightly rivals but the tip still persists that these two teams will be among the four that get in the final O'Shaughnessy playoff. Powerful pitching and balance should carry them during the trying days of July and August—when experience counts.

Seattle fans counted on Manager Spencer Abbott and long range hitting of Hunt, Muller, Michaels, Gyselman and Spindel to keep the Indians in the race. Even though their home field is atrocious, Seattle fans win honors along with those of San Diego for sustained loyalty.

PICK S. C. TEAM OF
25 TO FACE FRESNO

LOS ANGELES, April 2.—Twenty-five University of Southern California track and field athletes were named by Coach Dean Cromwell today to meet Fresno State tomorrow at the Bulldogs' field. The Trojan party will leave by chartered Southern Pacific car at 7:45.

The S. C. lineup will be as follows: sprints, Talley, Boone and Crane; 50, Olson; 100, McNeerney and Bonebrake; 200, Bush; mile, Jensen and Roulet; 2-mile, Vickers and Portanova; high hurdles, Staley and Olson; low hurdles, Vickers and Wilson; pole vault, Meadows and Sefton; high jump, Thurber; broad jump, Skinner; shot put, Hansen and Fisher; discus throw, Gaspar and Wrotnowski; javelin throw, Soper and Martin.

Gonzales Hurls
Against Broncs,
Bears In North

LOS ANGELES, April 2.—Eighteen U. S. C. baseball players left last night for the San Francisco bay district to meet Santa Clara today, Stanford Saturday, St. Mary's Monday and California Tuesday.

The traveling Trojans are Schwartz, Lilly, Selling, Tanner, Rafalovich, Ohlsson and Lunn, infielders; Herzog, Bernardino, Petruskin and Ramsey, outfielders; Jacot and Taylor, catchers; and Gonzales, Crochy, Twitchell, Culenward and Carpenter, pitchers.

Leading California Intercollegiate Baseball association pitcher with 15 straight victories in league play over the past three seasons, Gonzales will be sent to the mound against two of the Trojan rivals, probably Santa Clara and California. In his last appearance, the slender 21-year-old S. C. speedballer twirled a no-run no-hit game against Stanford.

Caliente Golf Links And Hotel To Reopen, Report

SAN DIEGO, April 2.—(UPI)—The rumor which most often has cropped up here since July 1935 and has been disproved just as often—that Agua Caliente is to re-open—was heard here again today.

This time, according to the rumor, the hotel, spa and championship golf course, constructed at a cost of $10,000,000, will be opened without the gambling rooms which made it famous.

It was the order of President Cardenas of Mexico, banning all games of chance, which resulted in the decision to allow the world famed, velvet greens of the $1,000,000 golf course to turn straw-colored and become a hard as concrete; it was this same order which resulted in the luxuriously furnished suites, the lavishly decorated Casino, lobby and even the famed "gold room" to become dust shrouded and a rendezvous for deadly spiders and other insects of the desert.

But, still according to the rumor, which it was said in some circles came from an "unimpeachable source," the success of such desert resorts as Death Valley and Palm Springs resulted in the decision to attempt to operate the great hotel and spa purely as a winter resort. It also was said the recently announced plans for re-opening the famous Caliente Turf club played a part in the attempt to again operate Agua Caliente.

SPORTS WHIRLIGIG; NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

I have it on good authority that four of the five schools in the Citrus Belt league definitely favor Santa Ana's admission. Nobody will say so but the dissenter is Redlands because San Bernardino, which is equally removed, has come out flat-footedly for the Saints. The Citrus Belt leagues had a meeting yesterday but did not discuss the Santa Ana situation, according to President E. W. Fischer. "We will not consider that problem until after the regular C.I.F. meeting next week," said Fischer.

Two of the district's distinguished coaches, Ernest Butterworth of the Santa Ana Jaycees and Vincent Humeston of Tustin track, are vocalists. Butterworth, once head of the Edmonston, Can., music department, sang before a junior high school assembly here yesterday. Humeston solos regularly in the Tustin Presbyterian church. Well, music has charms that soothe the savage breast.

Paul (Jumping) Jacques is now vaulting as well as high-jumping and hurdling for the California State team. At Berkeley the former Saint track captain is known as the "philosophical jumper" because he keeps a notebook of philosophical quotations which he runs across in texts and articles. He is studying economics, plans to become an accountant.

Coaches Bill Cole and Bill Cook are going down to Tucson April 17 to watch "Tex" Oliver's Arizona gridmen in their final spring practice football game. Seems Oliver is springing some new stuff.

Johnny Lehnhardt is playing fullback in spring practice at the University of Mississippi. That's a key position at Ole Miss, which uses the Warner system as taught by one of "Pop" Stanford disciples, Ed Walker. The fullback handles the ball first about four-fifths of the time. Budd Kidd plays right half 'cause they can run better to their right. Right-handers run better to the left. Don't ask me. I don't know why.

Claim Brown Jade Best Of Tanforan Three-Year Olds

TANFORAN, April 2.—Some rider pulls a string, releasing a spring attached to the blinkers, which becomes regular cup blinkers. The sleight-of-hand operations. The blinkers keep her from running out; at least they have in her last two starts.

Brown Jade is now being pointed for the $3000 added Tanforan 3-year-old Championship at one mile and one-sixteenth, tomorrow.

Mud or dry, it makes no difference to this brown daughter of the one-time California star, Alexander Pantages. She can burn oil over any type of racing strip and she is asking no quarter from the crack colts assembled here for the 25-day meeting. Take a deep track, for instance. Brown Jade simply aired to Exclaim and Rockwood in her last start, winning in a gallop by five open lengths.

But Brown Jade has had her trials and tribulations since her "baby" days. She had weak ankles as a youngster, was fired and almost not start in the spring as a two-year-old. After a long rest she broke into the headlines at Tanforan when she galloped home in her first start of the fall season. However, she was nervous at the post and was subsequently beaten in a race or two because she broke slowly.

No sooner had her post behavior been improved than she developed another fault, running out in the stretch races which apparently were at her mercy. She proved her unquestioned class when she blazed the pace in the $50,000 Santa Anita Derby, winding up fourth to Fairy Hill in a 21-horse field.

Ross Cooper, trainer of the William Le Baron stable, of which Brown Jade is a member, tried out a spring blinker on his charge which serves a two-fold purpose. The blinker remains open when she is at post and she stands perfectly. She won't stand with a regular cup blinker. After she breaks and is in full stride, the SAN DIEGO—Pittsburgh's Pirates won against the San Diego Padres 7-3 last night. Rookies Heinzelman, Waco and Epperly held the Padres to six hits.

PASADENA—Ted Lyons was out of the Chicago White Sox lineup today with a bandaged nose. A ground-off by a fractured left cheekbone. Lyons' face yesterday.

LOS ANGELES—Chicago's Cubs beat the Coast league Los Angeles club 7-4 for the third time yesterday. "Tex" Carleton, relieved by Rookie Epperly in the sixth, was credited with the win and hit a homer.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla.—The world champion New York Yankees play the Tallahassee club of the Georgia-Florida league today. Manager Joe McCarthy is pleased with his team. It is the first New York squad to go unbeaten in their home camp.

TAMPA, Fla.—"Kiki" Cuyler, veteran outfielder, will be out of the Cincinnati lineup for at least three weeks with a fractured left cheekbone. Cuyler crashed into Alex Kampouris yesterday as the Reds were defeated, 4 to 2 by Detroit.

Cincinnati plays the St. Louis Cardinals today who blanked the Brooklyn Dodgers, 7 to 6, yesterday.

WINTERHAVEN, Fla.—The Philadelphia Phillies and the Washington Senators, both beaten by minor league teams yesterday, clash today. The Phillies were knocked over 6 to 4, by Newark and the Senators were edged out, 5 to 4, by Chattanooga.

REMATCH TWO WELTERWEIGHT FOES TONIGHT

For the fourth successive week, scowling Maxie Moore headlines the Orange County Athletic club's boxing lineup tonight.

The Santa Ana junior college footballer goes into the firing pit against Rico Martinez, Sherman Institute 138-pounder who almost knocked out Moore here three weeks ago. Moore was so exhausted in the fourth round of their first fight that he barely lasted, and the Indian got the decision.

Moore has a better chance in the rematch because he's had three matches since taking that licking. The other time Moore was just returning to the wars after an extended layoff. Martinez had been active all along.

Indians from the Sherman school at Arlington make up almost one entire side of tonight's card, the first Friday show under Matchmaker George L. Stewart's guidance.

Martinez's stablemate, Uley Davis, appears in the semi-windup against Jimmy Merced, hustling Placentia lightweight.

"Flash" Flores of Garden Grove is listed to meet Ray Paddock of Sherman in the special event, another lightweight event. Flores lost his first fight last week but made a lot of friends with a game finish.

Other bouts: George Hill, Santa Ana vs. Edward Baker, Ontario, 160 pounds. Stan Lowery, Sherman vs. Larry Thomas, Huntington Beach, 147.

Fernie Baca, Ontario vs. Joe Menta, Sherman, 140.

Art Campbell, Ontario vs. Tommy Young, Sherman, 135.

Robert Navarro, Placentia vs. Sal Baca, Ontario, 118.

Nothing like aiming high. Ontario's newly formed soft ball club that enters the American Night league will open its season April 13 against, of all teams, Huntington Beach, two-time Southern California champion. The lads will learn with age.

Second Sacker George Preble of the Stars has taken up bowling as a sideline. Incidentally, they're going to add a couple of alleys to the West Fourth street ten-pin academy pretty soon. The spare business must be picking up.

What the game needs now is a good inter-city league along the lines of the old Southern California, Santa Ana, Long Beach, Pasadena and Pomona could be the nucleus of a powerful 875 wheel.

Ernest Soest of Santa Monica, Cal., edged out the veteran Billy Knox of Philadelphia for first place in the singles yesterday. Soest shot a 729; Knox 725. Soest also had one game of 279 which tied for the high single game in the individual event. Soest also placed sixth in the all events with 1888 while Billy Rose of Philadelphia was seventh with 1853.

"My visit to Japan has no connection whatsoever with the Olympic Games to be celebrated at Tokyo in 1940," Garland said.

RUTH LEE

TUSTIN.—Miss Ruth Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lee, 403 McFadden street, left today on an extended tour of the United States with a Hollywood girls' softball team. Miss Lee will play first base.

Betty Compson, the movie actress, will accompany the girls on the trip, which begins with a game at San Diego tonight, and extends to Texas, Florida, New York, Chicago and many stops between.

Miss Lee is well known in Tustin, having excelled in athletic activities at Tustin high school. Later she packed oranges at the Growers' association packing house and more recently was employed at the Eustis cafe in Tustin. She is 19. While in the east, she'll visit her brother, Bill Lee, a member of the 1935 graduation class of Tustin high school, who is now doing mission work in Georgia for the Latter Day Saints church.

Miss Compson will receive $200 a week while the 14 girls on the team will receive $25, with all expenses paid. With chaperones, the team will travel by special bus.

Coots In Fold;
Oilers Sign
New Pitcher

Big, blond "Nan" Coots, known only to his parents as Clarence, rejoined the Santa Ana Stars today. He said he was little the worse for a recent appendectomy and would be ready to pitch before the National Night league ball season begins next month.

Coots, a first baseman by trade but a catcher-to-be if Manager "Doc" Smith has his way, became a free agent at the end of the '36 season but was glad to re-sign with the Stars.

Manager Smith announced he had closed with home-and-home games with Ontario and Colton.

The Stars go to Ontario April 15; Ontario comes here April 30. The Colton contests are scheduled April 13 and 27. Hereafter the Stars will work out twice each week, Tuesday and Friday. Smith is trying to arrange for a regular game at Riverside next Tuesday.

A new pitcher, George Eckenroth, will join the champion Huntington Beach Oilers tonight when they gather for their first 1937 workout in the Huntington Beach park. Eckenroth is a Los Angeles youth who played quarterback in "Tex" Oliver's backfield at the University of Arizona in '35 and '36.

Manager Joe Rodgers announces the following schedule of exhibition games: April 6—Elliot Brothers; Apr. 9—The Dash; Apr. 13—Ontario; Apr. 16—Riverside; April 20—San Bernardino; April 23 and 24—Hanford; Apr. 27—at Riverside; Apr. 30-May 1—at Visalia; May 4—at San Bernardino.

BOOK REVIEW IS GIVEN AT MEET

ORANGE, April 2.—"The Way and How of Foreign Missions" was the book review by Miss Anna Granger at a meeting of the Woman's Missionary society yesterday, at the First Christian church. Miss Granger told of the work along missionary and medical lines accomplished by missionaries among peoples whose sufferings are made worse by treatments of their own ignorant and superstitious medicine men.

Miss Mary Costlow was in charge of the devotional period with her subject, "Moving Forward." Plans were made for a tea in the home of Mrs. A. R. Smith sometime this month.

Mrs. Smith gave a talk on freedom from race prejudice. Mrs. William R. Holder was chairman of the hostess committee. On each tray was a picture of a scene at a mission station in Africa, a country being studied this year.

Those present told something about each picture and it was brought out that the largest membership of any Christian church was found in Africa at Lourenco, where there are 18,000 church members and the next largest is in Bolongo, the same country, where there are 13,000 members.

Mrs. Angeline Courtney presided. Mrs. Grace Strickland led the singing, and Mrs. Grace Knoll was at the piano. Hostesses other than Mrs. Holder were Mesdames William Neale, Frank Scoville, M. E. White, Alice Cole, J. M. Norden and G. W. Riggie.

Mrs. Carrie Riddle, a former president of the society, was in charge of the program and talks were made by Miss Helen Gillogly and Mrs. Bernice E. Moore. Miss Elsie Parson sang "List To His Voice" with Mrs. Ella Kilgore at the piano. Mrs. Kilgore also played for group singing. Mrs. J. R. Kenyon conducted a devotional service with the subject, "Prayer."

Plans were made for an annual dinner meeting on May 12 when the entire church membership will be invited and Mrs. J. K. Cecil, of Palo Alto, will be the speaker. Mrs. Cecil is a branch officer.

Mrs. Riddle told of the celebration of the seventieth anniversary of the founding of the Methodist Women's Foreign Missionary society which will be celebrated at a national convention to be held in Los Angeles in 1939. The speaker urged patience in waiting for good desired and pointed out that things do not happen all at once but sometimes require time for fulfillment. She suggested a daily quiet hour and said that it had been suggested that society members keep a prayer chart, checking off answered prayers. The power of united prayer by groups was stressed.

Flowers used in decorating the room, were from the garden of Mrs. Moore. Mrs. W. G. Saffern was welcomed to the meeting after an absence occasioned by a recent illness.

GOODRICH FIRM OPENS WAR ON UNSAFE TIRES

A national campaign, declaring war against the use of unsafe tires has been started by the B. F. Goodrich Company, according to H. L. Bown, Goodrich tire dealer, First and Broadway, following a meeting he attended in Los Angeles, where the safety program was outlined.

"Goodrich, a pioneer in the promotion of greater safety on our streets and highways for more than 20 years, will enlist its entire national organization in the war on dangerous tires, to begin today," Bown said.

"National Safety Council figures show that more than 27,000 deaths were caused by motor vehicle accidents last year while 1,300,000 injuries followed automobile accidents.

Safety Tread

"In the past 15 years, 600,000 Americans lost their lives in traffic accidents and many of these were traceable to tire failures, principally blowouts.

"Goodrich began its work in highway safety when automobiles first came into use by erecting signs on dangerous curves, at intersections and schools throughout the United States, some of which are still in service.

"In 1912 the company introduced a safety tread for automobiles designed to give road traction and prevent skidding.

"The Goodrich Silvertown Safety League was introduced in 1931 and more than 2,000,000 motorists have signed pledges to drive safely since then.

Tire Conscious

"Then came the Goodrich Life-Saver Golden Ply to protect against tire blowouts at high speeds, one of the real contributions of research and development in the tire industry.

"The movement to make American car owners tire conscious and remove hazardous tires from service will be carried throughout the year," Bown said. Bown has been a Goodrich dealer since 1929.

Jimmy Fidler in HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, April 2.—Today I shall play a master stroke and answer a great many letters with these few paragraphs. There have been scores of inquiries from readers who have noticed that current pictures often have subtitles announcing that "plots and characters are fictional." Readers want to know why.

Studios do this to avoid the responsibility of picking on real people. Folks are often sensitive about their names. I am not, because with a handle like Fidler I have long since become inured to smart cracks. But for years previous to the movies, novelists and playwrights encountered protests from individuals whose names they had inadvertently appropriated. The film industry has fallen heir to this woe, because it is practically impossible to invent a set of character names without matching at least a few in real life. Frequently the real life owners of these names threaten suit if they think they are presented in unfavorable light.

Movies tried for a while to concoct outlandish appellations in order to avoid trouble. That proved worse than ever, because people with distinctive names were more certain than ever that they were being prayed upon. For example, when Jack Oakie played film characters named Voltaire McGinnis and Littleton Looney, he drew indignant protests from men with those exact names.

Elmer Butts once travelled across the country to poke Buster Keaton on the nose for playing a character by that title. Not long ago a studio manager ordered destroyed a lot of signs with the printed slogan: DEFEAT AMBROSE ABERCROMBIE FOR MAYOR. It so happens that the film official had an actual friend by that name who strangely enough was running for public office. Once a writer picked a name for a screen princess from a pack of Turkish cigarettes. Violent protests of a royal household almost precipitated an international crisis.

Now do you understand what is behind that cautious subtitle:

"Plot and characters are fictional!"

One of the funniest instances of the screen actually picking on a real person, by the way, was the use of a tombstone bearing the inscription: "Here lies Homer Williams." Granada, Mississippi audiences howled with laughter. Homer Williams was the owner and manager of the town theater.

I received a lasting chuckle out of this little story about Gloria Swanson because I am a house painter—about it, and painting things is my special forte. Not long ago Gloria decided to redecorate the patio of her home. She found some chairs and tables among the props left from the ill-fated "Queen Kelly" (the picture into which she sank a million, a picture never finished). "I liked being able to salvage something from the remains," Gloria explained in telling me this story.

Wishing to renovate the furniture, she bought $11 worth of assorted paints. The following day she sent her chauffeur for more. The third day the chauffeur again showed up for a re-order. This time the store owner, knowing he had supplied Miss Swanson with enough paint to cover a house, made a personal investigation. He discovered that Gloria had been using the good basic paint without mixing it with turpentine. "And all the time I was wondering," Gloria laughed, "why the stuff went on like chewing gum."

SPECIAL RADIO ACT ON WALKER'S STAGE

In addition to the two feature pictures and the regular program of eight or more amateur vaudeville acts, on the stage, Walker's theater will have the privilege of presenting one of the more popular radio acts, the Hughes Foursome, a group of four children well known for their appearances on the Campbell programs and on their own programs over stations KNX and KFWB.

These children are being presented by Al Romaine, director of many popular child stars, who is conducting classes for talented children at Walker's theater every Saturday morning.

Winners from other amateur contests being held in outlying Orange county theaters will compete with many Santa Anans for the privilege of appearing in the final contest to determine the winner of the trip to New York for an audition by a nationally known program. These preliminary contests are staged each Friday evening at Walker's theater and are broadcast over station KVOB by G. R. Hagan, Chrysler and Plymouth distributor for Orange county.

The screen fare includes Merle Oberon and Brian Aherne in "Beloved Enemy," a romantic drama of two lovers torn apart by the war between their two native countries, and "Sing Me a Love Song," a song-and-dance romance featuring James Melton, famous radio singer and Patricia Ellis.

DISEASE GERMS FACE NEW FOE

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—Modern medical science has produced a new method of fighting infectious disease with the aid of fat.

The discovery was made and announced by Drs. Garth W. Boericke, professor at Hahnemann Medical college, and William W. Young, both of Philadelphia.

The new disease fighter is a fluid containing microscopic particles of fat. It is injected into the veins or under a patient's skin, and the fat absorbs poisons in the system caused by bacteria. After the poisons have been blotted up, the substance is excreted by the liver.

Research on the preparation has been under way for several years, Dr. Boericke said, but investigators have been unable to keep the fat in a perfect solution.

Ideal Solution Found
The discovery, produced under extreme heat, contains 5 per cent sugar and water, and remains a stable solution.

The success of the discovery has been remarkable, Dr. Boericke said. "Pneumonia, childbed fever and influenza have yielded to the effects of the solution."

"The fluid makes up for any deficiencies that the patient's blood may lack. Ordinarily there are 30,000,000 fat particles in each cubic centimeter of the blood. The body uses them as a reserve stock against disease. Our research has proved that in severe cases of bronchial diseases the fat in the blood dropped to zero. Injection of the fluid supplies the deficiency."

Rapid Gains Shown

The report was based on 59 cases of infectious diseases. All were kept under strict hospital observation. The longest time that it takes the solution to work is 12 hours, Dr. Boericke said. Injections rarely had to be repeated more than three times.

Clinical microscope tests showed according to Dr. Boericke, when the blood of the patient returned to normalcy.

The injections were successful in 14 cases of childbed fever, and in 85 per cent of pneumonia cases. All of the rheumatic fever cases treated produced successful results.

Workers In Sugar Fields Get Show

HONOLULU (UP)—Five Hawaiian sugar plantations have appropriated $423,720 on a co-ordinated program for improvement of living conditions, social and recreational adjuncts of approximately 3,500 employees.

The program embraces erection of new cottages, community halls, of new cottages, community halls, modernization of camps and cottages, improvement of water supply and building of playgrounds, athletic fields and new roads.

Emulates Omar in Solon Sitdown

A loaf of bread, a jug of water and a hard bench constituted not paradise, but the implements of a sitdown strike in the Missouri legislature for Dr. J. A. Gray, Republican representative, pictured above, bread in hand. He chose a hard bench in a capitol office at Jefferson City for his strike, and declared he would remain there until he obtained information as to how many employees, listed on various department payrolls, were working for legislators.

GAMBLING QUIZ CHAFES MINERS IN BUTTE AREA

By GEORGE MCCADDEN

United Press Staff Correspondent

BUTTE, Mont. (UP)—A gloom induced by the first grand jury investigation in 21 years prevails in the famed gambling houses of "the richest hill on earth."

Small groups of men while away the time at pinocle, rummy, and other card games in establishments where they formerly gambled. Faro, roulette and poker tables were whisked out of sight in most establishments the night of Feb. 4 when operators were tipped that an investigation of gambling had been ordered by the legislature at Helena.

Keno Houses Dark

Dust gathered on the long, elaborate keno counters at the "Fascination Skill Ball Parlor," and Connor's "Skill Ball Parlor." Over at Curley Darragh's only the sounds of passing vehicles on Broadway echoed in the large keno parlor which once was a leading theater. Occasionally a woman with shopping bundles in her arms would peer through windows in the doors—women were the principal patrons of keno.

At nearby Meaderville, popular resort suburb, the games were down at the Rocky Mountain, Copper Club and Spanish Village.

Gambling house operators have survived numerous drives, but a grand jury is something different. Frequently gambling houses have closed voluntarily during legislative sessions in anticipation of a visit by an investigating committee which usually finds no evidence of law violation. That was the case this year, in Helena as well as in Butte.

Judge Heads Inquiry

The legislature adjourned March 6, when ordinarily the gambling houses would have reopened with a flourish and keno parlors would have welcomed hordes of women patrons. The lights would have blinked again behind the Chinese lottery score boards. But on March 2, Silver Bow County District Judge J. J. Lynch ordered a sweeping investigation of alleged gambling violations, sale of liquor to minors, narcotic violations and election irregularities. Lynch, former first assistant Montana attorney general, returned to the bench he long held only after a bitter election contest.

Grand juries ordinarily are not necessary here. The county attorney assumes the duties of a grand jury in most indictable offenses.

DELEGATE TRIO SENT TO 3-DAY PRESS MEETING

Three delegates from Santa Ana Junior college were among representatives of California college and high school newspapers today at the fourth annual press convention at the University of California at Berkeley, which opened yesterday.

Bob Swanson, editor of El Don; Harvey Baker, advertising manager of El Don; and John H. McCoy, head of the college journalism department, are Santa Ana's delegates. The group left yesterday afternoon accompanied by John L. Frisch of Long Beach Poly High school.

Kyne Speaks

The three-day convention on the university campus will be one of the outstanding student journalistic conclaves to be held in the West. Peter B. Kyne, famed novelist, was the featured speaker at a matrix table banquet.

During the day delegates registered and were assigned lodging in campus fraternities. Exhibitions of printing processes and electrotyping as well as a tour of the Berkeley Gazette were on today's program.

Hayes on Program

Round table discussion will be held on the following newspaper departments: Sports writing, engraving, editorials, advertising, college yearbooks, make-up, humor magazines, city editors, and radio in the modern newspaper. Friday night the annual publications dance is scheduled for the university gymnasium.

Sam Hayes, Richfield reporter, will headline the speakers at noon luncheon Saturday. Hayes will speak of the trend of modern news commentaries. Discussion groups will meet to debate the topics of women in campus journalism and cartooning. Concluding the conclave the convention delegates will be guests at the U. C. L. A. California track meet.

BATEMANS WELCOME FRIENDS AT ANNIVERSARY OBSERVANCE

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Bateman, route 1, Huntington Beach, this week celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. In compliment to the couple, dozens of friends and relatives visited their attractive home, where they were welcomed by Mr. and Mrs. Bateman.

Particularly attractive was the large wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom. The six-layer cake, snowy white and circled with a gold band in which were woven lilies of the valley, was baked by the couple's daughter, Mrs. Guy L. Carver, of Alhambra. Several members of the family participated in a musical program presented during the afternoon.

Married in Kansas

Mr. and Mrs. Bateman were married in Iuka, Kans., in 1887, when the groom was 18 years old and his bride 16. In 1894, Bateman and his wife moved to Oklahoma, where a claim was staked in the Indian territory. In 1907, they moved to Seattle, Wash., where they lived until 1911 when they came to California. They have been residents of Orange County for the past 13 years.

The Batemans have four children, Ray and Glenn Bateman, of Long Beach; Mrs. Carver, Alhambra; and Mrs. Roy R. Hurst, of Alhambra. There are seven grandchildren in the family and one great grandchild.

RIDER GETS 160 MILES ON CYCLE

Riding in the Pasadena. Motorcycle Club's Scotchman's Derby recently, but no competing for an award, due to the fact that there was no class for riders under 45 cubic inch displacement. Bruce J. Rathun, local distributor for the new light weight Servi-Cycle, rode one of these small machines 40 miles on one quart of gasoline for an average of 160 miles per gallon. This mileage proved to be nearly twice that of the nearest competitor.

This annual run conducted under sanction of the American Motorcycle association was participated in by 40 riders from surrounding clubs.

Second award in the 45 cubic inch motor class went to Nelson Rathun, who won first place last year in the same contest.

THE GREYFRIARS BOBBY
SQUABBLE

You have read often of Greyfriars Bobby, the shaggy little terrier which lived for fourteen years on his dead master's grave in an Edinburgh cemetery and to whose loyal memory a drinking fountain was erected at the cemetery gate. His sad life story was told in a famous book and it has been retold in dozens of shorter tales.

Well, now a British writer has come forward with the statement that the whole long vigil was a fake, a yarn cooked up by a Scotch journalist who saw a ragged stray dog seeking refuge from the rain under a bench tombstone. And the British press—including several magazines—has been fairly sizzling with letters from wrathful readers and with claims and counter-claims. It is amazing that one little terrier, dead for about three-quarters of a century, could stir up such tempest of indignation.

Nobody seems to doubt Bobby's existence. But the debunkers declare he was not mourning a lost master. They go on the theory

ENTIRE RECORD BLASTED AS 367 BOOST IS SHOWN

Santa Ana's traffic safety campaign sent the police department's arrest record for March, spurring upward to more than double the entire arrest record of February, 1937. And the same March record was 367 higher than the March, 1936, record.

The figures clearly show that the safety campaign was accountable for the record, which reveals 926 arrests were made this month. There were 434 arrests made in February this year.

Drive Has Effect

A supplementary report reveals the safety campaign has begun its good work. In 1936, for the first three months, 18 accidents occurred; 22 persons were injured, and two killed. In 1937, for the first three months, 15 accidents occurred, 21 persons were injured, and one person was killed.

Showing the tremendous difference in the number of California vehicle code and city traffic ordinance arrests in March, 1937; February, 1937, and March, 1936, the record states 491 vehicle code arrests and 333 city traffic ordinance arrests were made in March, this year, as against 192 and 124 in February, and 97 and 335 in March, 1936.

Here are the arrest records, as prepared by Desk Sergeant B. F. Lutz, for Police Chief Floyd Howard:

Charges Are Varied

March, 1937: One each for assault with deadly weapon, disturbing peace, city license, robbery, morals offense, and runaway girl; drunk, 65; vagrancy, 10; drunk driving, 7; California vehicle code—speed, 302; reckless driving 5, miscellaneous 184; city traffic, 333. For March, 1937, property stolen amounted to $12,742; recovered, $11,777; automobiles stolen, 13 and recovered, the same; bicycles stolen, 17, 12 recovered.

February, 1937, shows 24 bench warrant arrests; drunk, 63; grand theft auto, 7; vagrancy, 7; vehicle code, 192; city traffic, 124; drunk driving, 2. Property stolen amounted to $21,778, with $1639 recovered; five cars were stolen and recovered, and eight bicycles were stolen but only four recovered.

In March, 1936, arrests show: Bench warrants, 26; burglary, 6; drunk, 64; drunk driving, 9; grand theft, 7; vagrancy, 6; indecent exposure, 2; vehicle code, 97; city traffic, 335; runaway boys, 2. Property stolen amounted to $2062, with $1979 recovered; five cars were stolen and recovered; 16 bicycles stolen, eight recovered.

INDIAN DEED STONE FOUND

ALGOMA, Wis.—(UP)—Emil G. Iwen was informed that the stone he had been using for a doorstop for many years was an Indian property deed. Simon Kahquados, late chief of the Potawatomi Indians, said it was inscribed with markings that indicated it was a property deed.

That the public sympathy and attention and the masses of food lavished daily upon him made him look on that cemetery as a mighty pleasant place to keep on living in. I have no theory of my own. Copyright, 1937, McNaughton, Inc.

Racket? He Now Waits For "Move"

George E. Venners, 315½ West Fourth, operator of a cleaning establishment, wants to know whether he was the intended victim of a new kind of racket.

He has asked city police to find out. A woman's coat, he said, was recently left next door to his place, to be cleaned by him and returned to the owner immediately. The owner didn't call for several days.

"My wife is a nurse and couldn't get the coat when she expected to," said a man who appeared at the cleaning place yesterday. Venners gave him the coat.

Ten minutes later, another man appeared at the place to claim the garment for his wife.

"Well, you let the other man have it, now I want $15," the second man said.

Assistant Police Chief Harry Fink advised Venners not to pay but to allow a court suit—if any—to go to trial. Venners will take the advice.

Iowans to Hold Picnic April 4

The ex-Burlingtonites, who will come from a score of cities, are to meet beside the grandstand at the park, where registrations will be accepted. Mrs. Elwell advised those attending to bring a covered dish and their own table service. Coffee will be served free of charge.

NINE, STRANDED BY MURDER TRIAL, RESCUED, SENT HOME

Nine Mexican witnesses who were brought here from Martinez, in northern California, under subpoena for the defense at the murder trial of Jesus Esquivel, and who were stranded when the court refused to approve their claim for witness fees totalling nearly $600, have been rescued and sent home, it was announced today.

Superior Judge James L. Allen refused to allow their demand for fees, on the ground that there was no necessity for so large a number of witnesses to testify on one point, namely that Esquivel had been living in Martinez since the murder of Salvador Lopez in 1929, instead of fleeing into Mexico, as claimed by the prosecution.

"Not in Hiding"

Assistant District Attorney James L. Davis, opposing payment of the fees, said that the state would have stipulated to all of the matters to which the nine witnesses testified. While claiming that Esquivel first went to Mexico, the state acknowledged that he later went to Martinez, Davis said.

The prosecution contended that Esquivel took flight, which was presented as evidence of guilt. The defense contended that he was not in hiding, and could have been located at Martinez at any time.

Whether relatives or their employers furnished funds to send the nine Martinez witnesses home was not revealed here.

After-Concert Supper
Will Be Sequel To Shawn Dances

Those after-concert parties which Musical Arts club has introduced this winter as sequel to each successive program on the Behrmer-Wilson Artist Series presented in the high school auditorium, will reach their climax tonight. For club members are staging a gala affair, open to all their friends, at Daniger's as a conclusion to the appearance on the auditorium stage of Ted Shawn and his Men's Dance Ensemble.

There is one proviso in this general invitation, and that is that those planning to attend the after-concert supper must make advance reservations either through Mrs. Leslie Steffenson, Musical Arts president, at 2272R, or with Mrs. Daniger at 2178.

Interest in the party is merely secondary however to that in the dance program. And this interest throughout the city was given fresh fuel today by news of the overwhelming success attending the Shawn program last night in San Diego. It was lauded as the finest event on the season's entertainment course and aroused special enthusiasm among young people of San Diego schools. Those interested in athletics and physical culture were especially engrossed in the work of the dancers.

L. E. Behrmer, one of the Southland's best known impresarios, who was in San Diego last night, will be in Santa Ana for tonight's recital and will remain as one of the special guests at the supper party. Present indications are that Shawn and the men of the Dance Ensemble also will remain as guests of honor.

Behrmer was to confer today with Clarence Gustlin, local manager for the artist series, Mrs. Steffenson, musical arts club president, and others of the sponsor club, on artists for the course to be presented next year. It was not expected that definite choice would be made of these artists, but consideration will be given to those who would prove most entertaining to the local patrons.

Jubilees Assemble
For Evening Of Cards

Jubilees assembled for another of their pleasant parties last night when Mrs. W. C. Pagenkopp was hostess in her home, 505 East Bishop street. Co-hostesses with her were Mrs. Walter Swanberger and Mrs. Jennie Tulene.

Others in the group were Mesdames John Jones, Louis Braasch, John Garthe, Jack Kahler, Guy Christian, Fred Pope, Fred Perryman, Nelson Smith, R. F. Keller, U. L. Barge, H. H. Dimmitt, Fred Triplett, Sidney Davidson, Joseph Hamblet.

Mrs. Hamblet and Mrs. Smith won prizes for high scores in contract and auction bridge, and Mrs. Pope received door award. Refreshments were served by the hostesses.

The next meeting will be held May 6 in the home of Mrs. W. G. Lewis, 1216 North Flower street. Co-hostesses will be Mesdames Louis Braasch and Jack Kahler.

P-T.A. Installation
Held At Hoover School

Presided over by Mrs. E. D. Froeschle, whose year in office has now come to a conclusion, yesterday's meeting of Hoover P-T.A. was of special importance because of installation of new officers.

Mrs. Horace J. Howard acted as installing officer, and the honor was paid Mrs. John J. Vernon, president; Mrs. Edward F. Howard, vice president; Miss Doris Schenck, secretary; Mrs. C. F. Leithoff, treasurer; Mrs. Warren Hilliard, historian. One of Mrs. Froeschle's final gracious acts in office was her presentation to each incoming officer of a pretty corsage bouquet.

There were other gifts, principally a flowering plant to Miss Isabel Lindsay, Hoover principal, to express the association's appreciation of her unfailing aid and cooperation, and a graceful white pottery flower bowl to Mrs. Froeschle as a memento of a year she has made valuable and interesting for her association.

The afternoon program on Hobbies followed, and each room offered its exhibit of hobbies of the various pupils. Mrs. Oliver Wickert, president of Orange P-T.A. Council, shared the various features of the day, and remained as a special guest for the tea hour at which Mrs. Stanley Reinhaus, Mrs. Hilliard and Mrs. Walter Gibson were hostesses. The table was charmingly appointed with flowers and silver, and tea and cookies were served.

He is attaining wide fame as a puppeteer, and his recent eastern tour added to his reputation on the entertainment platform.

Both guests will be here for tonight's final Artist Series program featuring Ted Shawn and his Dance Ensemble at the high school auditorium, and will accompany their hosts to the after-concert supper at Daniger's.

Hostess At Shower
Observes
Wedding Bell Theme

Wedding bells which chimed so recently for Miss Margaret Guard and Robert Edwards formed the decorative keynote for a crystal shower at which the new Mrs. Edwards was complimented last night when Mrs. Edward Gaebbe entertained.

The hostess received guests in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Asa Hoffman, 1012 North Broadway, where graceful sprays of bridal wreath, pink sweet peas and forget-me-nots provided a charming setting. Pink and blue tulle of wedding bell design were distributed for bridge play. Scoring first and second high in the games, Mrs. Allan Carstensen and Mrs. Paul Reynolds were rewarded with gifts in crystal.

Pink wedding bells centered ice cream rounds which were served with angel food cake and other delights following card play. Cecil Brunner roses and forget-me-nots in silver vases centered the small tables at which guests were seated for this pleasant interval. White tapers gleamed in the dining room, where the table was spread with lace and centered with bridal wreath. Miss Mary Jane Dodd assisted Mrs. Gaebbe in serving.

Being assembled by the bride, were presented to her as a climaxing feature of the evening.

Invited to the affair with Mrs. Gaebbe and her honoree, Mrs. Edwards, were Mesdames Lee Hasenjaeger, Allan Carstensen, Harold Fish, Carleton Smith, Clyde Higgins, Paul Reynolds, Francis Horton, Edmund Guard, Lucius Conkey, Nevell Vandermark; the Misses Florence Turner, Mary Jean De Bode, Helen Demetrien, Dorothy Dunbar, Marjorie Berkner, Betty Seely, Alma McClain and Jo Ann Baker.

Change of Mind

By Helen Welshimer

NOW my life is quiet,
The days all walk along
Like pairs of nice old ladies
Who aren't so very strong.

I HAVE the peace I wanted,
The calm I talked about;
No tumult and no shouting,
Since you are not about.

BUT life has grown so tiresome
Within this monotone,
I wish that it would thunder—
Or you would telephone!

Ebell's Reciprocity Program Comes
Monday

Following Ebell society's announcement of a special reciprocity day program to be held Monday at 2 p. m. in the clubhouse auditorium, with Maurice Hindus as speaker, prominent clubwomen from all over the Southland have accepted invitations to attend the affair.

Discussing plans for Monday's meeting, Mrs. F. C. Rowland, Ebell president, today commented on the good fortune of the society in securing Maurice Hindus, traveler, writer and lecturer, for the reciprocity meeting. So many prominent clubwomen who are familiar with the writings of Hindus, and with his brilliant and informative addresses on conditions in Soviet Russia, have indicated their plans to attend Monday's program, Mrs. Rowland pointed out.

Following the lecture will be a social hour during which out of town guests will be honored. Mrs. Charles S. Kendal and members of the hospitality committee of which she is chairman, will be responsible for the tea interval.

Among those who plan to attend are Mrs. Mary Stewart of Hemet, president of Southern District; Mrs. George Bunnell, Redlands, state federation treasurer; Mrs. E. E. Smith of Anaheim, state chairman of literature; Mrs. George S. Foster, president of San Bernardino County federation; Mrs. H. E. DeNyse of Riverside, past district president; Mrs. B. F. Warner, Ontario, past district president; Mrs. Clark McEuen of Hemet, state federation representative in Sacramento, and chairman of resolutions committee; Mrs. Emerson Holt, president of Riverside County federation; Mrs. Albert Launer, Fullerton and Mrs. Frank Rosasp, Placentia, of California Federation News.

Presidents and other members of each club in Orange County federation of Woman's Clubs have been invited to join in this outstanding program of the year.

Attention of Ebell society members was called to the fact that the reciprocity meeting will be on the first Monday in April. The usual meeting date, April 12, will continue the regular meeting scheduled with Mrs. Valley as speaker.

WORTHWHILE CLUB

Current events provided the theme for a program enjoyed by Worthwhile club members yesterday afternoon in the home of Mrs. George McKinney, 119 West Nineteenth street.

Election of officers was planned for the next meeting on April 15. Appointed on the nominating committee were Mesdames Mary Herring, George McKinney and W. B. Gibson.

Serving cake and coffee at the program's close, Mrs. McKinney was assisted by Mrs. Herring.

College Events

Madonna lilies arranged in the home of Miss Mary Elizabeth Henney, 701 Cypress avenue, formed a setting for candlelight ceremony initiating ten new members in Las Gitanas Tuesday evening.

Talk On Indian Homes Is Presented For
Section Group

Seating their guest members of Ebell Third Household Economics section at tables garlanded with pastel sweet peas and maidenhair fern, Mesdames D. F. Cook, A. G. Finley and Amos N. Cox yesterday served an appetizing luncheon menu in the clubhouse section room.

This social hour was preliminary to the afternoon session at which Mrs. F. T. Preble presided as leader. After giving attention to necessary business details, Mrs. Preble turned the meeting over to the three hostesses, and Mrs. Cox presented the special guest speaker, Mrs. George W. Bond.

"Indian Homes" had been chosen as the program theme, and section members felt that they were truly fortunate in having that speaker, one so familiar with that subject. For Mrs. Bond taught for three years on Indian reservations in New Mexico, and could tell them not only of racial characteristics and tribal customs, but could describe the Navajo and Pueblo Indian hogans.

She also told many of her personal experiences among the Indians, and talked on the wisdom with which the mothers train and rear their children. Indian women, she described as especially good in their care of sheep and thus are excellent shepherds. Amplifying her interesting talk was the fine display of basketry, pottery, headbands, beads and other Indian artifacts, loaned for the occasion by Mrs. L. C. Fairbanks.

Golden Poppies Offer
Decorative Note To Club Luncheon

Spring sunshine as it is reflected in the golden poppies now starring California valleys, had its counterpart yesterday at Daniger's where Mrs. Henry S. Williams chose a sunny yellow theme for the luncheon at which she received members of a two-table contract club.

California poppies centering the table, saw their color repeated not only in place-tally cards, but in the candles rising from ivory pottery holders matching the flower bowl. Luncheon was followed by contract play in the card room, where Mrs. Paul Ragan made the afternoon's high score, competing with Mesdames James B. Tucker, Edwin T. McFadden, Hubert B. Nall, Harold Nelson, John Cannon, Walter Hill, and the hostess, Mrs. Williams.

Church Societies

First Baptist
Plans for April events were made by members of First Baptist Women's society executive board Wednesday when they met in the home of Mrs. L. C. Fairbanks, 401 West Eighth street. Assisting hostesses were Mesdames O. S. Catland, M. M. Holmes and W. A. Atkinson.

It was decided to give a White Cross tea April 20 in the home of Mrs. W. B. Lockett, 2036 North Broadway, from two to four o'clock in the afternoon. Mrs. E. A. Baird announced a C. W. C. rally to be held in Anaheim, with local boys and girls planning to attend.

Preceding business matters, the hostesses served luncheon, with Mr. Fairbanks and Mr. Atkinson assisting. Lilies, a potted rose tree and orchid peonies provided an attractive setting for the affair.

Present in addition to the hostesses were Mesdames J. A. Newcomer, F. W. Loose, C. W. Nash, R. E. McBurney, E. A. Baird, J. P. Williams, William Dietrich, L. R. Stearns, M. L. Morris, H. E. Charming Affair Given Complimenting
Visitors From Panama

Those two delightful houseguests of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Barr, Miss Winifred Jacobs and Mrs. H. J. Armstrong of Panama, have offered inspiration for several interesting parties, the latest of which was arranged by Mrs. Lyle Anderson, 2335 Oakmont street.

Yesterday, Mrs. Anderson assembled a small group of mutual friends of herself and Mrs. Barr, for luncheon and bridge in compliment to the visitors. For her tables, she selected petunias in jewel tones, matching them with bowls of the same glowing blossoms throughout her home. Mrs. Anderson wore flowers for the event, having been remembered with a lovely corsage by Mrs. Barr and the two honor guests.

In the after-luncheon contract play, Miss Jacobs held high score and received the prize, while the hostess had thoughtfully arranged also for guest prizes for the two. Mrs. Armstrong, who is a sister of Mrs. Barr, and Miss Jacobs arrived in mid-March from the Canal Zone, and will make an extended visit in the Southland.

Close friends invited by Mrs. Anderson to meet them yesterday included with Mrs. Barr, Mesdames Leonard G. Swales, Frederick Elliott, Frank Harwood, John Ball, Lester Tubbs, Fred Fogy, Horace Stevens and Howard Timmons.

You and Your Friends

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Atkinson, 410 West Eighth street, have as a houseguest Mr. Atkinson's sister, Miss Phyllis Atkinson of Hampton, Iowa. The eastern resident, who has been in the Southland since last November, divides her time between the home of the W. A. Atkinsons and another brother, the Rev. W. A. Atkinson of Ventura.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Raymond Walter, 718 Hickory street, plan to leave tomorrow morning by automobile for Chicago, Ill., where they will spend a few weeks visiting with relatives including Mr. Walter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Walter. The Santa Anas decided to leave for the east immediately when they were apprised of the illness of Mr. Walter's father.

Mr. and Mrs. George Newcom, 1517 North Main street, and their houseguests, their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Newcom and the latter's father, Henry Newman of Davenport, Ia., plan to spend the weekend at Palm Springs.

Mrs. Walter Ozmert, 1215 North Ross street, who has been ill with pneumonia, is reported making a satisfactory recovery.

Miss Lansing Invites Altrusa Members To Dinner Party

Accepting Miss Grace Elizabeth Lansing's invitation to be her dinner guests in the Nurses' building at Orange County General hospital, members of Altrusa club last night had an enjoyable experience. They found that Miss Lansing had arranged a background of Old Mexico for the dinner served in the basement recreation room of the building. Brilliant serapes, hand-blocked linens and other native weaving, were hung on the walls; a large table was arranged with curios of every description; brightly ornamented trays made from Mexican gourds were used in serving, and quaint Mexican glass and pottery formed the entire table service. All were souvenirs of Miss Lansing's recent trip to Mexico City.

Two of the nurses of the staff, Mrs. May Venable and Miss Phoebe Clark, prepared the menu including little hot rolls and a luscious cream pie of the dessert course.

Miss Lena Neumeyer had provided an unexpected program feature, by introducing little Miss Joan Walworth, talented young expression pupil of Miss June Arnold. Joan, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Walworth gave a succession of charming child readings.

The remainder of the evening was devoted to planning for Santa Ana club's approaching hospitality to all Altrusa clubs in the district. This will be a Cinco de Mayo dinner and program to be staged in the Y. W. clubrooms Saturday night, May 1. The Altrusa International convention to be held in Mexico City will provide the program theme.

Several members were unable to be present, but those enjoying Miss Lansing's hospitality included with the president, Mrs. Charles Prather, Mrs. H. K. Warren, Miss Irene McFaul, Miss Lena Neumeyer, Miss Mary Howard, Mrs. Emmett Elliott, and the two guests, Mrs. Venable and Miss Clark.

Mrs. Prather called a board meeting for next Thursday night in the Merle Norman studio, 613 North Main street, and Mrs. Warren invited the group to be her dinner guests Tuesday evening, April 13, in her home, 176 North Center street, Orange.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Raitt are long-time residents of Santa Ana, where their marriage took place March 31, 1892. They have seen the growth of the city from a small village and anyone privileged to hear them talk of early days here, may see a panorama of history unrolled.

The Mixing Bowl
By ANN MEREDITH

Today, I am taking the role of "contributor" in passing on to you new ways (to me) of using liquid floor wax:

Tiled hearths can be kept tidy, bright and clean, by occasional applications of liquid wax after the tiles have been well scrubbed.

Tiled drain boards in the kitchen are easily wiped up when kept covered with the liquid wax.

Tiled bathroom floors think nothing of frequent libations of soapy water, liquid face creams, etc., when protected with liquid wax.

Fat becomes a few women, but on the majority the opposite is true. If this overweight condition has existed for some time, the weeks required by a reducing diet to start fat on its way out, seem like years. But, suddenly one bright day the body begins to feel lighter, hips seem, and are, smaller and skirt bands become definitely looser. . . . the diet is "strutting its stuff."

Our Safe and Sane reducing diet can do exactly this for you, only it does not require weeks to show improvement, just days, ten of them to be exact. You get it by writing this department, enclosing with your request a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

TODAY'S RECIPES

Fish Casserole

1 pound can of salmon or
1½ pounds fresh white fish, steamed and flaked
1 can chicken broth heated with 1 cup top milk
2 heaping teaspoons cornstarch blended with 1-4 cup water
2 tablespoons butter
Riced hot potatoes
1 cup buttered crumbs mixed with a little grated cheese
Salt and pepper to taste.
Use a shallow baking dish, generously buttered. Arrange fish in casserole and cover with the sauce made of broth, milk, cornstarch and butter, well seasoned. Have ready some freshly boiled potatoes, rice them to the depth of an inch over top of casserole, strewn potatoes with crumbs and cheese and bake in a hot oven 20 minutes. (Do not pack potatoes by pressing into sauce, they must be kept light and fluffy). The dish serves five.

OH-SO-GOOD PIE

An unbaked pie shell, sides well fluted.
Filling
½ cup seedless raisins, soaked 30 minutes in hot water, then drained
½ cup finely chopped walnuts
1½ cups sugar sifted with ½ teaspoon cinnamon
1-8 teaspoon ground cloves
1½ tablespoons soft butter creamed with spiced sugar
3 tablespoons vinegar
2 tablespoons water mixed with sugar
3 large eggs, beaten to thick froth.
After creaming spiced sugar, add nuts, raisins, vinegar and water. Strain frothy eggs into this mixture, and mix very lightly, so the air bubbles in eggs will not be broken down. Have the oven preheated to 450 degrees, brush the pie shell with sizzling hot butter (this keeps filling from soaking). Pour in filling, cover pie with large tin lid and give it 10 minutes in the hot oven. Cut heat to 300 degrees, take off lid and bake until edges are firm, but center soft. Chill and serve in small sections. . . . the family will contribute the obligato.

Has Setting In

Although some of the party features arranged in connection with Pegasus club's meeting yesterday afternoon were in keeping with the spirit of All-Fool's day, program plans proceeded as usual and some very interesting original manuscripts were read.

Mrs. Earl Morris' home, 812 East First street, was scene of the affair, which began with the serving of dessert. Guests introduced were Mrs. Mit Phillips and Mrs. Warren Brakeman.

"No Frowns" was the title of a poem by Mrs. Justus Birtcher. Other poems read were "Laughter," by Mrs. Walter Foote; "Backhanded Compliment," Mrs. Malcolm Macurda; "I Hear a Son," and "The Mirror of Life," Mrs. Bond.

Mrs. Brisco sang "April Fooling," "Traveling with You," and "Whistling in the Rain." The latter two selections have been published just recently, and represent the combined talents of Mrs. George Bond, who wrote the words, and Mrs. Demaris Hulien, of Eugene Ore., Pegasus club, who composed the music. Mrs. Macurda was at the piano for the numbers.

Completing the group of members present were Mrs. Frank Lansdown and Mrs. Rose Havelly.

Spring Party Enjoyed
By Past Leaders of Calumit Auxiliary

Charming as were flowers in the Adolph Erickson home Wednesday night when Mrs. Erickson and Mrs. Edna Hannah entertained Calumit Past President's association, they were surpassed by those used for garlanding the table for the late refreshment hour.

For the hostesses had exquisite roses in great scented masses at either end of the table, reserving the center for the candle-light birthday cake. This cake was a compliment to Mrs. Elva Hunt, March celebrant, and the twinkling candles outlined the letter E. The cake was served with an Easter dessert of peaches and whipped cream, following an oyster soup course.

Mrs. Hannah presided over the business meeting during which plans were made to present a skit at the annual U. S. W. V. convention in Eureka, where past presidents hope to repeat their prize-winning success a year ago. Mrs. May Glaze has the responsibility of planning the entertainment feature.

There was an interval of gifts, for not only did Mrs. Hunt receive a birthday present from her mystery sister, but Mrs. Nannie Reed found her wedding anniversary observed in the same pleasant fashion, and Mrs. Hazel Hall's mystery sister had an Easter gift at her place.

Mrs. Hannah and Mrs. Erickson were assisted through the evening by the latter's house-guest, Mrs. William Swartz, who completed the guest list with Past Presidents Elva Hunt, Emma King Wassum, Eleanor Shaw, May Glaze, Estelle Dresser, Katherine Reagan, Hazel Hall, Bertha N. Dixon, Bertha Helmer and Cella Cook.

Mrs. Emmett Elliott was invited to substitute for Mrs. Jones in contract play shared by the hostess, Mrs. Vernon, her sister, Mrs. Russell, Mrs. F. A. Burkett, Miss Clara Richards, Mrs. Jesse Elliott, Mrs. Don Mosley and Mrs. Herbert Krahling.

Miss Richards made the evening's high score, with second place taken by Mrs. Elliott, the two receiving prizes selected by their hostess.

WHAT IS HOME

WITHOUT A GARDEN?

MODERN CALLIOPSIS IS GAY GARDEN FLOWER

One of the gayest flowers to be found in any garden, and one hardly enough for almost any climate, is the calliopsis. Formerly known as coreopsis, the true name for the perennial strain, it has recently been developed to new heights as an annual, and is known for its wiry stemmed blooms brilliantly colored in yellow and maroon and crimson. For table bouquets it is unsurpassed, and its beauty in the garden has been attested by many experts, and countless thousands of amateur enthusiasts.

European specialists have been particularly active in its development, and today there are many fine varieties with larger flowers and more compact growth than the older types. Garnet is one of these. With its rich solid red blooms, it makes a glowing patch of color in any garden. It is these rich red types that are most effective for garden decorative purposes, but they need the lightning touch of the yellow trim to set them off properly. Most of the varieties have this trimming, differing in width and intensity, with a maroon, scarlet or crimson center. A nice arrangement is to have the tall varieties in the center of a bed, with the dwarf types on the perimeter as an edging. Calliopsis may be planted early or late, and because of their rapidity of growth, they are particularly suitable for the late planting when some other flower has failed. Soil conditions do not matter so much—they will grow anywhere—but they demand plenty of sun. Plan them where they are to grow, as transplanting is not always satisfactory, and when they have made a fair growth, thin them out to 12 inches apart for the tall varieties, and from six to eight inches for the dwarfs. When mid-summer comes, the blooms will form a solid mass, covering the foliage almost completely.

Orange County Gardening

By Mrs. H. Cardozo Sloan, Corona Del Mar
Being sound advice and interesting comment on what to plant and how to care for Orange county gardens.

THE WEeping WILLOW TREE
Driving down Wilshire boulevard in Los Angeles last week I glimpsed across a wide lawn the pendulous boughs of a weeping willow, new-leaved in tender green, dripping in the spring rain. I never see a willow tree, on velvety lawn, or shadowing the water tower in some old ranch yard (where they seem to have been so often planted by the early Californians) but there comes drifting into my mind the faint music of a half-forgotten song—

"The west wind loved the willow
Better than any tree,
And came o'er the distant billow
To woo her tenderly.
Sweet the music, and gentle,
With a faintly wistful undertone,
Then, to an increasingly agitated accompaniment, the "north wind, with cruel passion," on an uprising crescendo climaxing in tragic chords, "tore her up by the roots!" A breathless pause—then, on the return of the plaintive first theme, "the west wind found her dying, when the pitiless storm was past," and all through the saddened music of page four he hovered over her, singing and sighing, like a lover true to the last.

"Like a lover, true to the last," I have forgotten who wrote the words and who the music of that old song. I have almost forgotten (not quite) the handsome young tenor whose accompaniments I played. But whenever I see the willow leaves stirring gently in the breeze, the song comes floating back to me—

"The west wind loved the willow
Better than any tree."
Very old is the willow in history and literature. By the rivers of Babylon the homesick Jews hung their harps on the willows, weeping, unable to sing the Lord's song in a strange land. When the hosts of Caesar invaded England they found the Britons defending themselves behind willow woven shields and living in huts of wattled willow smeared with mud. And almost as far back as the first recorded reference to the willow is it regarded as a symbol of grief for unrequited love, or for the loss of a mate. "To wear the willow" meant to grieve for the loss of one beloved. "When once the lover's rose is dead, Then willow-garlands 'bout the head, Bedewed with tears, are worn." I remember the design of the

NOW IS TIME TO GET RID OF SNAILS

By R. B. Newcom
There has been a great deal of interest aroused in the minds of gardeners and orange ranchers as to just what are the essential differences, and relative values existing in poison baits for Snails and Slugs. There are two distinct types—the Snail Process meals; and the so-called Bran, Water and Calcium Arsenate mixtures. The Bran, Water and Calcium Arsenate formula is: Bran 16.0 lbs. or 74.766%; Calcium Arsenate 1.0 lbs. or 4.673%; Metallic Arsenate 1.23%; Water 4.4 lbs. or 20.561%.

The Snail Process uses no water; but uses about 32% molasses and syrup impregnated, under a special patented process, in the manufacture of the bait. Department of Agriculture chemical analyses show the Snail Process baits as carrying from 2% to 2.10% Metallic Arsenate. So found for poisoning. The Snail Process baits are about twice as strong as the Bran Mixtures, 50 pounds having relatively the same killing effectiveness as one hundred pounds of the Bran. There are other marked differences in field effectiveness in the two types of materials. The wet mixture should be used promptly to keep it from molding. After being spread on the ground, the absence of any binder like molasses or syrups will cause the poison to separate as soon as the material dries out. Also a slight sprinkle or heavy dew will cause the Arsenate to separate from the bran and disappear in the ground. Also the Snail Process meals retain their effectiveness for 10 days to two weeks after they have been put out, which, of course, is a great advantage. It is a big advantage, especially to the rancher to use a dry bait instead of a wet one because the dry baits can be stored indefinitely and need not be used immediately to keep from spoiling. Another advantage with Snail Process baits is that they are scented and very sweet, which makes them alluring to the pest and more liable to be eaten quickly. This subject is of special interest at this time because our heaviest infestations of snails and slugs generally occur in the Spring and early Summer months.

Elba, no doubt with heart as sad as those of the Jewish exiles by the rivers of Babylon. And certain it is that a weeping willow was planted by his grave, twigs of which have been carried away and planted all over the world. Origin in Babylon I have read that a traveler in Syria once sent to the English poet, Alexander Pope, a box of figs in which was a twig from one of the weeping willows of Babylon. That this twig was planted and flourished in England, and from it, during Revolutionary times, a British officer brought a slip to Virginia, where it grew into a tree, still standing. This tree, so says the story, is the ancestor of all the weeping willows in this country today. The botanists, who do so love to prick all the bubbles, say that while Salix Babylonica has been long and widely cultivated, it is actually a native of China. And that the willows along the Euphrates, the willows of the Children of Israel, were probably popular trees, populus Euphratica. Some species of willows, called collectively "osiers," are cultivated for the use of the cut branches in basket work. The bark of some species is used medicinally. Paper pulp is made from the wood; also charcoal, used in gunpowder. Some species produce a light, durable wood, used for many purposes; crickets' legs are made from it, for one thing.

The willow has been immortalized in the "willow pattern" of domestic crockery. This was designed in the late eighteenth century (its inspiration being two oriental plates) with its blue color, its weeping willow trees and its bridge—"the willow pattern" that we knew in childhood," wrote Longfellow, "with its bridge of blue leading to unknown thoroughfares."

The weeping willow is not for

Rancho Santa Ana Gardens Are Opened To Public Today

Today is Flower Day at Rancho Santa Ana Gardens. Beginning today and every Friday during April, May and June Mrs. Susanna Bixby Bryant, managing director and owner of the gardens will throw open her beautiful ranch to flower lovers. Those desiring to visit the gardens must obtain cards which they may get by writing to the Administration Building at the gardens, R. F. D. 3, Box 127, Anaheim. A self addressed envelope should be enclosed and the number of cars and persons in each party should be noted. One of the largest collections of native California wild flowers has been assembled by the garden staff. A fine strain of the California poppy has been planted over four acres. These will be at their best the next few days. A small area south of the herbarium has been laid out to a cactus and succulent garden. In this spot are all the native California cacti and many species of plants classified as succulents. A collection of colorful desert annuals, perennials, shrubs and plants from other sections of the State have been planted to lend more color to this section. Another feature is the five-acre Orange County Plant Sanctuary. Adjacent to it is the wild flower nursery of about two acres. In this

Cultivation

BEFORE transplanting plants raised in hot beds and cold frames, harden them off by leaving off the sash during the day. If the weather is good, leave off during the last few nights before moving the plants. EVERY improvement that you have on your grounds is really an investment that can be measured in dollars and cents of increased value to the property.

MAKE THE CARE of your garden a part of the day's routine. A few moments each day will then be sufficient.

LIME IS NOT a plant food. Its value is in correcting a sour or acid soil condition and in making clayey soils looser and more pliable.

IF YOU HAVE an open fireplace, use oak and save the ashes. Hardwood ashes are an excellent fertilizer and when purchased are expensive.

FROGS and toads, hornets, garden spider, dragon flies, are some of the desirable friends in your garden for they feed on both the adults and the larvae of harmful forms.

ARSENATE OF LEAD is the only really successful preventative for Japanese Beetle. Before using, get detailed instructions as it is very poisonous.

EVERGREENS should have plenty of water. Spray the foliage frequently to wash off the dust and dirt and to keep down the attacks of the red spider.

USE AN oil rag to wipe off your tools after using. The slight filament of oil will generally keep them from rusting.

the small lawn or garden, but when there is room it is probably the most attractive of the "weeping" trees, certainly the one to which most sentiment is attached. I should like to dwell only on whatsoever things are good and lovely about the willow, but for the benefit of those who might hesitate to plant it because they have heard it is sometimes defoliated in early spring by "black worms" I feel I must add that this can be controlled by a prompt spraying with lead arsenate. Indeed, we easily cleaned up this tiny black caterpillar invasion on Lombardy poplar trees with a spraying of Black Leaf 40. So plant a weeping willow if you may, and when the breeze from the not far distant billow, stirs softly its bending branches you will know that, truly, the west wind loves the willow better than any tree.

Sunshine Sure To Bring Out Cherry Blooms

BEAUMONT, April 2.—On Saturday and Sunday, April 3 and 4, this section of the San Geronimo Pass in Riverside county, will be ablaze with cherry blossoms. Inclement weather has delayed the full bloom this year. Already the blossoms are one-third out and a few clear days will bring them out in full. Visitors to the pass next weekend will see more than 70,000 trees in bloom, a never to be forgotten sight. Motorists are advised to turn off the highway in Beaumont at the corner of Beaumont avenue and drive north two miles to Cherry Valley where the cherry trees will be found in bloom.

Orange County Garden Clubs Meet At Costa Mesa

Talks of interest to gardeners were featured at a meeting of the Orange County Garden clubs at Costa Mesa, Wednesday with Mrs. J. E. Mason Yould, managing editor of The Register gave a short talk opening the session and telling of a garden page which is a weekly feature of the paper. He asked that members of garden sections of

Glossy Rose Foliage Resistant To Mildew

Observation over a period of time reveals that rose varieties with glossy, thick, leathery foliage are bothered less with mildew. In coastal areas where the humidity during the warm summer months is rather high, roses are more susceptible to infestations of mildew than elsewhere. If one were to confine a selection of roses to those with disease-resistant foliage, it would be impossible to have a full collection of the best varieties. The universally popular "Tallman" is one rose that would be discarded because of its poor foliage. Rose breeders are not unim-

FRESH GARDEN PEAS FOR THIRTY DAYS

The cultural requirements of garden peas are simple. To be at their best, peas need moderate temperature, plenty of moisture, and long daylight hours. They are not injured by light frost and may be planted as early in the spring as the condition of the soil will permit. The seed of garden peas, like sweet peas, is apt to rot in the soil of excessive moisture should prevail before it germinates. Recently, seed treated with red copper oxide has been found to come through under moist conditions.

By planting some of several varieties at the same time, a long succession can be obtained extended over a period of thirty days. One pound of garden pea seed is sufficient to plant the equivalent of a row 100 feet long. The seed should be planted 2 inches deep. The rows should be 2 to 3 feet apart. Under good growing conditions, peas will be ready to eat in from two to three months after planting.

All varieties growing more than a foot and a half high will do better if staked or otherwise supported, when they reach a height of 4 to 6 inches. "Laxton's Progress" produces the largest pods of any of the dwarf varieties. They are dark green pods, and well-filled with extra large, tender peas of superior quality.

"Laxtonian" is generally considered the best of its class for home garden use. The blue-green pods are often more than 4 inches long and contain eight peas of the finest quality.

"Dwarf Telephone" grows about 2 feet tall, and is heavily loaded with large, well-formed pods of unexcelled quality. An excellent variety to follow the early peas. "Stratagem"—a late-growing variety. The vine, which grows about 2 to 3 feet tall, bears large pods of the Telephone type. "Melting Sugar"—the vines are 4 to 5 feet tall and produce an abundance of pods 4 to 4 1/2 inches long, with all the sweetness and tenderness of fresh green peas. When the buds are partly filled, they are prepared like snapbeans, and when developed, they are eaten as shelled peas.

Garden Study Club To Meet

Members of the Garden Study club will meet next Friday, April 3 at the home of Mrs. Lena McMillan, 1223 South Birch street. Mrs. McMillan has just moved into her new home and members of the club will be given a preview of a new garden. Mrs. Dove Harrison, recently elected president, will occupy the chair for the first time at the meeting next Friday. The hostesses for the first meeting of the new year will be Edith Stanley, Mrs. J. W. Jones, Mrs. H. M. Baldrige and Mrs. McMillan. Flowering fruit trees, berries and flowering shrubs, are best pruned immediately after they have finished flowering or bearing.

Garden Classes Are Resumed

Classes in landscape gardening, under the direction of Ted Blanding, local authority, were resumed at the Julia Lathrop Junior High school last Monday. They will continue until the close of the school year, according to Blanding. The meetings usually are opened with an outline on landscaping of gardens and the last hour or more of the two hour session is devoted to the discussion of individual problems in gardening. The classes meet at 7 o'clock in the evening and continue until 9 and are open to anyone. They are part of the Adult Education program. It takes less of the more expensive grass seeds to sow a given area than it does the cheaper ones.

GOOD GARDENING.

BY DONALD GRAY
(Register Gardening Consultant)
The rose, delight of the gardener, rates consideration all by itself, since most gardens contain some types of this universal plant. If perfection of bloom is desired, certain rules must be followed. Here are the most important of them:

Donald Gray

Hybrid teas and hybrid perpetuals are the choicest roses. They will give blooms in all shades and color combinations. A rose garden should never be planned close to the house where it is in view all year. There are times when the covering over the tops of the plants is not attractive, and even at the height of the blooming period there is always much earth in view. The best way to grow perfect blooms is to have a space set aside for this plant. Treat a rose bed as a separate unit in gardening.

Choose a site that is in partial shade in the middle of the day. Roses require full sunlight in the morning, but do not do well under continuous sun exposure.

Prepare the ground by mixing one-third well rotted manure, one-third good garden soil and one-third clay loam. Excavate two feet deep. Roses do not like wet feet, so place cinders, slag or agricultural tile in the bottom of the bed to take off excess water. Place hybrid teas in front of the former will grow lower than the latter. At present, successful rose growers advocate planting hybrid teas 12 to 15 inches apart.

When you buy new plants order them from a reputable dealer. He will sell you budded stock, but very few of them will send up shoots from the parent wild-rose.

Orange Vacant Lots Planted

Work of planting vacant parkings along East and West Chapman avenue and along North and South Glassell street, is in progress in the city of Orange. The work is being done by the city at request of members of the Garden section of the Orange Woman's club. Zinnias which were used in similar plantings in 1935 during the Olympic Games in Los Angeles were chosen as flowers for this year. A number of articles were published in magazines and papers of nationwide circulation regarding the zinnia blooms in Orange of that year. Bronze, orange and yellow blossoms were used at that time with a few scarlet and deep red flowers, giving an effect of entry to the city between paths of gold from any of four directions.

Surrounding a pool, and the center of a larger garden, this arrangement of roses forms an attractive unit by itself.

There is an art in grafting, and it pays to buy plants from a nursery that knows the art of propagating. Plant roses at the same depth they have been growing in the nursery. Cut them back to three or four eyes on each stem. Each year the rose must be pruned. The flower comes on the growth that develops from this year's bud. Three stems and four eyes to the stem will produce an abundance of flowers.

There is no set rule that can be set up as to when to feed a rose. Liquid manure is probably the best fertilizer to use just before the plant comes into flower. A pint per plant is the average.

Many pests and diseases attack the rose, and there are many remedies. It is unwise to recommend any one spray. The best plan is to spray regularly with chemicals that will prevent spreading of fungus disease, and one that will kill the leaf eating insects. Hand picking of the rose beetle is the best method to eradicate this pest. Always keep the ground cultivated. Peat moss of buckwheat hulls may be used as a mulch over the top of the ground, but do not let this material get into the soil around the roots. It will make the soil too light.

After roses stop blooming in the fall, stop feeding. When the leaves drop off, cover each plant with a hill of soil 10 inches high for the winter. In the spring remove the soil and prune the plant.

The voids left in lawns by pulled weeds should be sown to grass seed immediately.

Protect young tender plants from late spring frosts by covering them with inverted flower pots.

NEW ROAD LINK AT ANAHEIM IS OPEN TO TRAVEL

Dedication of the new Manchester-Firestone boulevard cutoff through Anaheim now open to travel, is planned for the latter part of April.

Invitations to the governor, state highway officials and county authorities have been extended. By that time, say reports to the Automobile Club of Southern California, shoulders of the new stretch of highway linking Anaheim and other inland cities with the coastline at Playa del Rey will be completed.

Widening of pavement is progressing on Firestone boulevard diagonal over twelve miles between Norwalk and Miraflores on a $221,149.50 contract, and through Downey between Paramount and Cerritos avenues on a $73,448.29 contract. Both jobs are expected to be finished in late May. Traffic is being maintained through both projects.

THERE'S ONLY ONE WAY TO STOP CONSTIPATION

You have to correct the cause. Simply taking a pill now and then is just temporary—and often harmful.

Most constipation is due to meals low in "bulk." Put enough "bulk" in your diet and you can really correct common constipation.

That's why millions of people eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN every day. This cereal furnishes "bulk" which does not "break down" in the body. ALL-BRAN absorbs twice its weight in water, gently sponges and cleanses the system.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is a food—not a medicine. You buy it at the grocery store. Besides "bulk" it has vitamin B to tone up the intestines, and iron for the blood. Eat two tablespoons daily with milk or cream. Three times daily in severe cases. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

The five most overworked sentences: 1. I'm working my way through college selling magazine subscriptions. 2. No jobs right now, but I'll file your name and address. 3. ## "Get THIS coffee aroma!"

said Seattle man, proud of his wife's achievement

A Seattle business man writes: "A friend was kicking about his coffee. I held up a cup of my wife's coffee and said, 'Get this coffee aroma!' It was coffee and it sold him on the spot." (Unsolicited Testimonial)

Women whose husbands seem to be constitutional "coffee kickers" should try M-J-B's "Strength Essential" Coffee—an actual improvement in coffee which is positive and permanent proof against all future coffee failures.

The famous "Strength Essential" feature is developed by an expert blend of the world's finest coffees plus a special richer roast which insures a constant richness of true coffee character in every grain of M-J-B. Every cup has full flavor whether made mild, medium or strong. No tastelessness in a mild cup, no flatness in a medium cup, no bitterness in a strong cup!

Men say, "That's GOOD COFFEE!" every time they taste it.

The "Strength Essential" Coffee

M-J-B's "Universal" Grind is guaranteed right for Drip, Percolator, or any glass coffee-maker you use.

Your money refunded by your grocer if any tin of M-J-B Coffee doesn't satisfy you perfectly in every way.

GIVE SEEDS EARLY START OUTDOORS

Soil in which garden seeds are sown does not need to be very rich but the soil to which the plants are transplanted should be somewhat richer. One part garden loam, one part sand, and one part leaf mold makes a good mixture for the seed bed. Two parts good garden loam, one part old rotted manure and one part of either sand or leaf mold is about right for transplanting. The soil for both the seed bed and for transplanting should be screened to remove all lumps.

Watch the seed bed moisture and don't let the soil either dry out or become too wet. For the first day or two after the seeds are sown a wet cloth can be spread over the surface of the soil to keep it from drying but just the minute that the first seedlings begin to peep through the cloth must be removed.

Heavy watering of the seed bed usually results in the loss of the plants from "damping off," a disease that causes decay at the surface of the soil. The fungus that causes this damping off disease can be destroyed by baking the soil for an hour or so in an oven before it is used for sowing seed. Careful watering and plenty of sunlight and ventilation are the antidotes for the "damping off" disease.

A small sash-covered coldframe located on the south side of the house or the garage makes a fine place for taking care of the plants after they are started in the house and after the weather warms up a trifle.

Cabbage plants and celery plants should never under any circumstances be subjected to serious chilling in the coldframe, because it is this chilling that causes them to shoot to seed prematurely. A temperature of 60 or 65 degrees is about right for all plants belonging to the cabbage tribe and also for celery. Tomato plants will stand considerable hardening in the coldframe but be careful and do not let the temperature run too low with either peppers or eggplants.

Hills of summer squashes, cucumbers and muskmelons may all be started in the hotbed or coldframe by using quart berry boxes to hold the soil, then later when the weather is sufficiently warm they can be planted in the garden by carefully cutting away the berry boxes and leaving the roots undisturbed in the block of soil. Ten days to two weeks may often be gained by starting these crops indoors. Sweet corn, snap beans and lima beans can also be started in the same manner.

Multi-Colored Snapdragons Grow Readily

Among the old-fashioned flowers that have found a victim to public caprice and desire for novelty are the snapdragons. Today, the florist calls them antirrhinums, which is the botanical term.

They deserve to be called by an aristocratic name, because modern science has improved the strain in such a gorgeous manner, that this old favorite has surpassed its former popularity.

Antirrhinums are found in a range of color from pure white to a velvety red which is almost black, with a bewildering variety of flames, oranges, scarlets, pinks and roses and many variegations. There are four general types of this flower: the dwarf, the semi-dwarf, tall and super-tall.

The semi-dwarf or intermediate type is the most successful for the garden because of its greater freedom of bloom, being more inclined to branch than the tall forms which shoot up to one tremendous spike which is followed by numerous side branches later. Make maximum greater variety of the antirrhinum grows from 2 to 5 feet high. The two intermediate reach 18 inches, and the dwarfs are very small, making excellent edgings.

It is a very good plan to start snapdragons in the house or in a cold frame to assure earliest blooms. The slow growth of the tiny seedlings should not cause alarm, as that is a part of their nature, but if kept in a cool atmosphere during this early stage of growing, they will amply make up for it when finally set out in the garden. Rich soil and liberal moisture is needed to produce the finest blooms.

Group planting is the most satisfactory. The seed generally runs about 80 per cent true, which assures some variations. Pinks seem to be the favorites, with the yellow and flame colored flowers next.

Lanny Ross, star tenor of NBC's Showboat, goes over his music with his singing teacher, Cesare Sturani...

Even though Lanny is one of radio's top-flight singers, work never stops. So, off comes the coat...

And the vest, too. Sturani is hard to please, and he insists that his pupil work on a song until it is perfect. Finally...

Everything clicks, and Lanny can smile as he sings, for Sturani is smiling, too. They do this three times a week.

By HOMER CANFIELD

A NOTE OF FRESHNESS IS always injected into the air whenever a new program looms on the log. Tonight it is Coronet, a weekly half-hour sponsored by the magazine of that name.

Featured will be Deems Taylor, no stranger to those who follow radio, and the orchestra of Robert Ambrosius.

Short stories, articles and pictures from the magazine's pages will be treated through music and dramatizations. There might really be something here. (KECA, 6:30.)

opera from boston

ALTHOUGH THE METROPOLITAN Opera House in New York is dark, the company's broadcasts still go on—for the next two Saturdays at least while the singers are on tour in Boston.

But instead of NBC's "Blue" it is to the "Red" network you must dial tomorrow morning if you will hear the entire performance of "Das Rheingold." Wagner's introductory work to "Ring des Nibelungen."

Friedrich Schorn, baritone, will sing Wotan and the other principals will be Rene Mason, Eduard Habich, Hans Clemens, Doris Doe, Karin Branzell, Emanuel List and Norman Gordon.

Arthur Bodansky will conduct. Robert Waldron, announcer, will describe the opera. (KFI, 10:50.)

romberg's music

FOR HOLLYWOOD HOTEL WE have Jeannette MacDonald singing and playing scenes from "Maytime." Also, Ken Murray and Oswald, whose new show got off to a surprisingly good start Wednesday, will drop in on the cast.

Singing opposite Miss MacDonald in the role Nelson Eddy does on the screen will be Igor Iginoff, a young baritone, is coming along nicely. Although he may not have the polished musicianship of a Tibbett or a Bonelli, that is something time may bring. Quality is of great importance and his has a warmth and distinction of which few may boast.

Will Frances Langford be well enough to do tonight's broadcast? Yes, it appears she'll be on hand to undertake an ambitious array of songs to prove that she again is in fine fettle. (KNX, 6.)

short shots

FELIX MILLS, WHOSE MUSIC we like very, very much, moves into a program called New Horizons. Guest soloists, of the struggling young artist variety, will be given a chance to be heard from week to week.

The initial airing tonight will present Thora Matheson, soprano, and Jud Sloan, baritone. (KNX, 12:15.)

David Broekman brings Jimmy Newell back for a repeat rendition of "That's Why Darlings Were Born." (KHJ, 7.)

STORY OF THE CONFEDERACY

LIKE a stone wall, it was said, "stood the Confederate brigade under Gen. Thomas Jonathan Jackson, at the battle of Bull Run in the early part of the Civil War, and since then this great military hero has been known as "Stonewall" Jackson. In the two years at he served under General Lee, Jackson displayed an uncanny ability to appear with an army where the enemy least expected him. His fast marches and sudden maneuvers resulted in several surprise victories. Jackson, left an orphan when boy, went to West Point, saw service in the Mexican War, and fought at the Virginia Military Institute. When the war began, he organized a brigade and became the South's second greatest commander. At Chancellorsville, in an excitement of victory, he was mortally wounded, and died eight days later, at the age of 39. His portrait appears with that of Gen. Robert E. Lee, on the new cent army stamp.

A group of American volunteers who fought with the French army in the World War will come to Blerancourt for the inauguration of the museum. The new museum will form part of the Museum of Franco-American Cooperation, which was created after the war through the generosity of Miss Anne Morgan and the late Mrs. Anne Murray Dike. Nobody can estimate how many millions of dollars have been contributed by Americans to France during the present century. The museum will give a prominent place to such American benefactors as Andrew Carnegie, John D. Rockefeller, Edward Tuck, the Morgan family, James Hazen Hyde, William Nelson Cromwell and others. Their philanthropy will be visualized by souvenirs, paintings, photographs, documents and other objects. The longest snake in the New York zoo is 26 1-2 feet in length.

JOB*s* that the MACHINE MADE

This monster of a mechanical age is not anti-social—for the work the steam shovel does has made possible the employment of vast numbers of workers.

By Wilfred Owen

EVER since man created machines to multiply his powers of production there has been divided opinion regarding the effects upon employment which follow the adoption of technological improvements. With equal fervor the machine is blamed for unemployment and praised as the agent of our economic supremacy, and while the prophets of calamity see industrial salvation only in their land of Erewhon, Utopians are joyfully measuring production to infinity.

The fact remains, however, that while machinery may and often does displace the laborer, it also has the power of creating employment, and net effects are always dependent on particular circumstances, many of which lie beyond the machine.

When the electric refrigerator began to bar the ice man from America's back doors, many a disciple of the "good old days" lamented his passing. They overlooked the fact that electric refrigeration had joined the industrial roll call, creating new employment and new purchasing power, and that the marketing of this new machine was stimulating a demand for ice. By 1930 the number of ice dealers had increased 237 per cent over the census figures of a decade before.

A number of such examples have been pointed out by the Machinery Institute to illustrate the possibilities of technological improvements in the creation of employment and prosperity.

The modern office building, for example, is alive with the lesser monsters of a mechanized age: dictaphones, calculators, typewriters, and other labor-saving devices. It might be supposed that such equipment as this would mean sharp reductions in the office force. In reality it has made possible an amount of clerical work which could never have been attempted by unassisted labor, and in the period from 1920 to 1930 the total number of persons working as typists, stenographers, bookkeepers, cashiers and accountants had increased by 392,000.

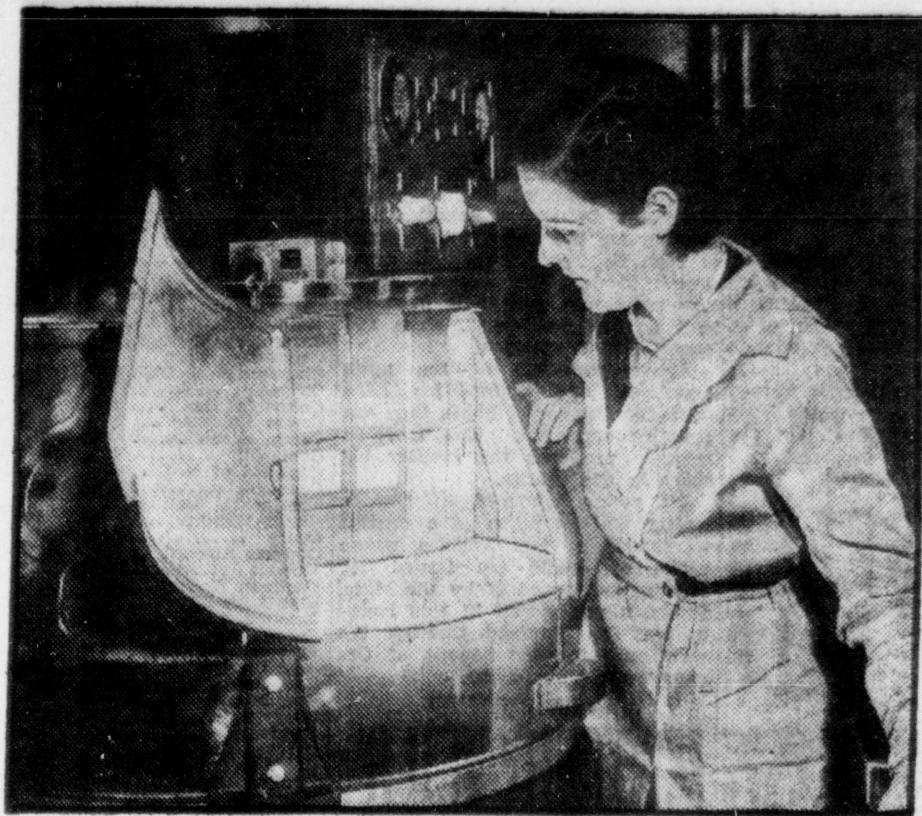

Large-scale business built by machinery has made such workers a necessary part of the industrial structure, and a mechanized office has become the offspring of dynamo and power loom.

A WELL-KNOWN iron monster is the steam shovel, which digs and lifts and loads materials that armies of men might be doing by hand; and we readily deplore, without thinking, the numbers of workers who no longer dig for a living.

But the steam shovel, while it has admittedly displaced this type of unskilled labor, has at the same time made possible a program of industry which might never have been dreamed of had men and their shovels been required to build its foundations. The steam shovel, which has opened the earth for endless roads and towering skyscrapers, has created a tremendous new demand for raw materials, public works, transportation, and plant construction, employing a tremendous succession of workers from miner and lumberman to steel workers, masons, carpenters, riveters, and a host of others.

Without the power of this single machine, how could we create such a demand for the products of other industries, and how could

While labor-saving improvements are getting so much blame for displacing workers, why not take a look at these figures which tell of the work they have created? The moral is: don't charge our own shortcomings to the machines

Industry has machine-made jobs for women, undreamed of in the old days. Operating the "fadeometer," which tests the resistance of fabric colors to the bleaching action of the sun, is a new skilled occupation.

of motor vehicles, it would be difficult even to visualize the 28 million we now possess. It is reported that in 1935 six million persons depended either directly or indirectly upon the highway and motor vehicle industries for their livelihood—one out of every seven gainfully employed in the United States.

In 1931 there were approximately a million men engaged in the building of roads, and two and a half million truck, taxi, and bus drivers, and private chauffeurs. The purchasing power created by these new industries is tremendous.

The automobile is the largest consumer of rubber, mohair,

Conference Board, was on the whole providing more employment per unit output in January, 1936, than in the same month of 1929. Who would return to the spinning wheel?

NEVERTHELESS, to conclude from these examples that machinery never causes permanent displacement of labor would be as far from the truth as to assert that economic ailments are the inevitable result of technological innovation.

The classical theory that labor-saving devices cause only a short-run period of unemployment is not always substantiated by the facts, for lower unit costs made possible by machine processes will not increase demand when the conditions of demand are inelastic.

For example, if some necessity of life, such as bread, were produced and sold at half its present price by the use of improved machine methods, there would be little increase in the amount of bread consumed. It is true that purchasing power thus released might be used for the buying of some other product, but only by those with restricted incomes.

And such releases of consumer spending would in all probability be distributed over so varied a number of goods that no one industry would necessarily need to increase its labor force to meet the added demand. The permanently displaced baker would not be re-employed as a result of the technological improvements in his industry. Such is the case with the introduction of mechanized farming equipment.

Another factor to be considered with regard to displacement of labor, either temporary or permanent, is the decrease in consumer spending when workers lose their jobs. We are so intent upon the supply side of the economic equation that we too often forget that production cannot be profitable when consumption cannot keep pace, and that the wage earner is the consumer.

Suppose, on the other hand, that our technological improvement is applied to an industry whose product is sold under conditions of elastic demand, that is, a demand sensitive to changes in price. Clothing, gasoline, moving pictures, and choice types of foods might be mentioned as examples. Reductions in price effected by the lower unit costs of machine production might attract sufficient new purchases to actually increase the labor force required.

The type of technical innovation most likely to benefit the whole economic system is that which is directed to the manufacture of an entirely new commodity or service which creates a net increase in wealth.

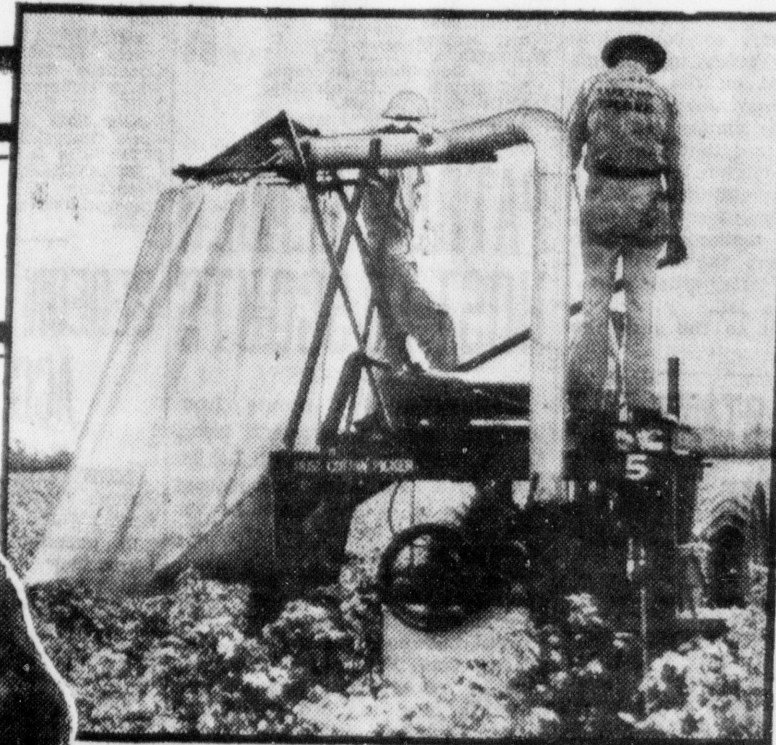

Autos, radio, sound pictures and airplanes fall in this category of goods, constituting a type of technical progress which makes new employment and higher living standards.

Technological unemployment is not a new economic phenomenon, but it has become of very considerable significance with the more rapid rate of technical change and with the multiplying complexity of our industrial structure. We blame the machines which have created such amazing volumes of goods, although it is our own inability to use them properly, as well as certain other factors in our economy, which underlie our difficulties.

Finally, it should be noted that modern industry has spent practically the total of its efforts planning and perfecting its methods of production without regard for the needs of the market as a whole. We expect the problems of distribution to care for themselves, and hope for order instead of planning it.

A radial drill press used in the production of solid steel bodies for autos. Could this job have been done at all by hand?

The Rust cotton picker in action. Mechanized farming equipment is one type of machinery which does at times permanently displace workers.

Typewriters and other office labor-saving inventions did not lessen the number of office workers. Between 1920 and 1930 the total number of typists, stenographers, bookkeepers, cashiers and accountants had increased by 392,000.

we pay the cost, either real or monetary, of labor using tools that are toys?

Printing is another industry which employed hand labor to a large extent some 40 years ago. With reductions in the cost of printing which followed the introduction of machinery, the price of reading matter became a minor issue, and demand for the printed word soared to such heights that despite the increased output per laborer made possible, the total number of such workers has become five times as great as it was in 1890. The effects felt by the lumber and paper business, moreover, and on mechanics, newsdealers and writers are not to be overlooked.

When the dial telephone was installed on less than 3 per cent of the Bell system in 1921, there were 190,000 operators asking us, number, please? By 1930, with 32 per cent of the system on dial service, the telephone girls we had thought might disappear altogether numbered 249,000. Telephone calls had increased more than 100 per cent, at the same time nearly doubling the need for both telegraph and telephone linemen.

A PRIME example of the beneficial effects upon the labor market which may be realized by the introduction of machinery and mass production is the automobile.

Had it been impossible to attain our present labor-saving technique in the manufacture human labor formerly required is now employed per unit of goods, demand has so increased with lower prices that almost a third more workers are making women's clothing today than 10 or 12 years ago.

For every seven persons engaged in the manufacture of men's furnishings between 1923 and 1925 there now are eight. The textile industry, according to the National Industrial

57 VARIETIES

At the Inventors' Congress in Chicago, Mrs. Bess M. Hedge of Oklahoma City, submitted 57 different gadgets or appliances to ease the housewife's task.

That is what the world is crying for—more inventions that will make it possible to have better jobs for all people. When people come to realize that all business is to eliminate work, then we will cease having laws that will paralyze industry and make things scarce in order to make a profit for the few.

Let us have more people with their eyes open and looking for methods to more efficiently relieve the drudgery of monotonous work.

ADDED PUNISHMENT

Perhaps the most distressing single thing about our use of the death penalty is the unavoidable form of mental torture that is inflicted on the criminal before death.

An example: the New York death house held, among others, six young men sentenced to death for a murder and robbery. On the day before the scheduled execution date, the warden entered the death house. Everyone knew that the governor had been urged to commute the sentences; with an agony of suspense, the six men waited to see which, if any, were the lucky men.

To three men he brought the news that meant life; to the other three he had nothing to say. Later that day a fourth commutation came in. The remaining two men, 24 hours later, were duly executed.

They doubtless deserved death for their crime; but it is easy to think about those last, unendurable hours when they saw their pals pulled back from the gates of death and waited, waited to the last, for the same respite for themselves?

SPEED TRAPS

Widely recognized is the fact that it is far sounder to prevent accidents than to apprehend and punish offenders after accidents occur.

Which is a polite way of saying that we are not in sympathy with the plan of Ray Ingels, director of the state department of motor vehicles, to reintroduce the speed trap.

Ingels has caused to be introduced into the legislature a bill permitting the maintenance of speed traps although the practice was abolished a few years ago by law. It was found at that time that maintenance of speed traps was not effective in reduction of traffic accidents, and such traps generally were maintained where conditions were least hazardous, where motorists operated at more than normal speed by reason of safe conditions.

It is our opinion that officers should devote more attention to reckless and hazardous operation of vehicles under such circumstances as overtaking and passing on wrong side, upon curves or other places where the view is obstructed and to more strict enforcement of the right-of-way rules at intersections, as a large percentage of accidents occur at such locations though the actual speed of vehicles may be permitted by law.

The modern theory traffic law enforcement urges manual control of traffic and the prevention of accidents by conspicuous presence of officers on the highways and the actual physical control and direction of the flow of traffic on the part of the constituted traffic authorities.

SO RAPID HARD TO BELIEVE

One can hardly believe he is in America, when he reads an account of some of the proposed laws introduced into the state and federal legislatures. By Senate Bill No. 241 in the California Legislature, it is proposed to appoint an industrial court which would have jurisdiction over all disputes between employers and employees concerning wages, hours, working conditions and its decisions would be conclusive; lockouts and strikes would become unlawful and in case the employer refused to abide by the decisions of the court, his property could be seized and operated through a receivership.

A law like this, of course, would mean that private business would be infested with the corruption of the inefficient politicians; that we would no more have free enterprise; we would no more have the right of private individuals associating with people of their own choosing; that every little dispute would have to be settled by the politicians; that if an employer had lost faith in an employee, he could not dismiss him from his job unless he were able to prove inefficiency to the politicians.

There being more workers than employers and, as a result, having more votes, invariably there would be very few people who could be discharged. It would be an end to big production, to free industry and to free enterprise.

It is a direct result of the belief that increased purchasing power comes from increased wages, instead of increased production.

We will have to un-learn a lot of things taught by our public educators and those who do not impose difficult tasks upon themselves but insist upon others imposing impossible tasks upon others.

In other words, it is a result of loose thinking and meddlers.

We have to pinch ourselves to realize that we are living in America!

True friendships are eternal.—Cicero.

NOT LOGICAL CONCLUSION

An Anaheim contributor to the Clearing House takes exception to our statement that railroad engineers are paid more than they are worth on a competitive basis.

We very much doubt whether the railroad engineer receives more wages than the tractor operator because it costs more to produce the engineer than it does the tractor operator. But there is no way of determining the real difference except by a free market. If he, by comparison of ability, is really worth two or three times as much then why is he not willing to permit the tractor operator to compete? The fact that the railroad engineer will not permit competition is prima facie evidence that he thinks the tractor operator, or some other worker, would do his job (his production) for less.

It would also seem that he errs in his conclusion when he deduces that because numerous railroad magnates have accumulated personal fortunes that railroad engineers are not being paid more than their relative worth. The railroad magnates sometimes accumulate large fortunes for the reason that it takes rare skill, training and judgment to intelligently build, finance and operate railroads. But when these railroad magnates, by building railroads and operating them, make us all live better because these railroads have been built and operated successfully, then it is to public interest that they be rewarded for so doing in order to stimulate other men to accomplish great services for humanity. Of course we are not defending stock manipulations that permit excessive salaries—higher than the same ability could earn on a competitive basis.

Again, we believe, the contributor errs in his logic when he concludes and claims that the average wage of railroad workers is below $900 per year; that the railroad engineer is not overpaid. He is including in the group those unskilled laborers, which greatly exceed the skilled labor, and thus greatly reduces the general average. Let him give the average wage per hour or day of the railroad engineers.

Again he errs, when he uses the yearly wage. The higher the hourly wage arbitrarily set, the lower the yearly wage. This is true because as the wage appears more inviting to the ordinary worker there are a greater number of people who enter the industry and, as a result, are obliged to share the work if the organization does not, by coercion, use seniority in employing help.

It is this attempt arbitrarily to set hourly or daily wage higher than the average schedule that results in great idleness and a lower yearly standard than there would be, provided the wages were not arbitrarily set and paid in proportion to skill and not by seniority.

If we are to have security for the working man, we can think of no way it can permanently be had except by greater production and by having workers placed on a basis of ability and after the production has been greatly increased, because all workers worked on a competitive basis, then preventing those with large incomes or large assets from using too large a part of the total national income to satisfy their own indulgences. In other words, the workers as a whole can raise their standard of living only by compelling those with large incomes to reinvest them in enterprises that will lower the living costs of all workers and create a greater demand for labor so that no laborer is at the mercy or the goodness of heart of any employer. Then, every employer will be obliged to pay a larger fraction of the total production to the worker because if he does not, some other employer will bid against the employer and take his employees from him.

That is the way to permanently raise real wages, and the only way we can think of. If any one has a better way we would like to have it expressed in detail, not in generalities.

NIGHT'S DANGERS

A traffic squad expert in a large American city recently published figures showing that more than half of the fatal accidents in his city in 1936 took place at night—although, as a moment's reflection shows, by far the greater part of any city's traffic moves in daylight.

The reason is not far to seek. Streets are often poorly lighted. On rainy nights every light sheds a dozen confusing reflections—on windshields, on auto windows, on gleaming pavement. Pedestrians, unwarily crossing a street in the middle of the block, are invisible until the driver is almost on top of them.

Part of the remedy, of course, is better street lighting. But the thing that is chiefly needed is greater care on the part of the drivers. It ought to be obvious that to try to make daytime speed under nighttime's conditions of limited visibility is bound to lead to tragedies.

CUPID'S RECOVERY

We have heard a great deal about the various deficits which have been piled up during the depression years. Probably the oddest of all is the one discovered by the University of Chicago sociologists, who report that since 1930 we have run up a deficit of marriages and divorces.

The sociologists are Professor Samuel Stouffer and Lyle M. Spencer, and they explain that, because of the hard times, 748,000 couples who ordinarily would have married remained single, while 171,000 married couples who ordinarily would have been divorced stayed married.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—This column promised to lay off the Court controversy for fear of agonizing the customers with boredom. But, if you stick around Washington, it's as impossible to drop that subject as it is to stop breathing air.

The Court controversy literally is the atmosphere in this over-grown village.

Among some big Democratic shots in Congress, there is real revolt—suppressed and almost silent, "curses, not loud but deep." Its burden, "After all, we are Democrats. This guy in the colonial cottage with the green shutters, at the other end of Pennsylvania avenue, isn't going to be there forever and we're not going to wreck the Democratic Party for the sake of one man." That's what they say in private. But in public most of them say: "Yes, Mr. President."

The principal kick is that the Congressional leaders were not consulted. There is a yarn that they had been told about the President's sudden move, the whole trouble could have been avoided. According to this dope, two of the Judges who are tired and who haven't got too much money were ready and willing to retire if they could get retired pay. The plan of the Democratic leaders on the Hill was to pass the bill permitting retirement at 70, knowing that these two would step down.

That may or may not be true. But whether that is doubtful or not, there is no doubt at all about the stewing cauldron of resentment on the Hill. It boils over daily in the debate which is getting so hot that it strains old friendships.

Something of this was indicated in the scathing philippic of Senator Carter Glass. All kinds of persuasion—amounting as near to pressure as anybody dares to go with that fiery little fighting cock—was applied to get him not to make that speech.

He wouldn't have done it if he hadn't been deeply moved. This writer did not come off wholly unscathed among the Senator's janitories, puppets, incendiaries and marionettes. I know a lot better than to let literary cuss-words to come back with than those, but I got such a kick out of the sheer artistry of their application, and have such an affection for the artist, that we'll save them for Father Coughlin or somebody else.

Not all of the opposition is so sincere as that of Senator Glass. Some of it springs from personal dislikes or prejudices, and more from politics. But there is a big back-log of honest conviction amounting sometimes to religious zeal. It is the makings of the

Little Benny's Note Book

BY LEE PAPE

Ma was reading the paper after supper, saying to pop, Really Willyum, I mean really, I don't see why the government should spend so much money that the papers have to mention it day after day in a derogatory manner. I mean, simply because it's there, is that any reason they should squander it like a big overgrown drunken saller? she said.

A good bit of it isn't there, that's the cream of the jest, pop said. But I have a theory about public spending. I think in every country frugality begins at home. Look at the French, the most frugal people in the world. You never hear of their government shooting billions of francs up in the air. But here we don't know what it means to save money, so how should we expect our government to know? Take your seat, for instance. We're supposed to be on a budget, just like the government, and yet only yesterday, still in the middle of the week, you had to ask me for another check for household expenses, he said.

Now Willyum they're 2 horses of entirely different colors, ma said, and pop said, They're the same horse. If you can't manage just one check, what rite have you to expect the government to manage millions of checks? It's my theory that the government takes its cue from the housewives of the nation. To quote an old proverb, as the housewife is bent, so will the government incline, and I can prove it by a thousand instances and examples, he said.

Well if you can then that just goes to prove that the government has more worries than people imagine, and if people only realized from their own troubles what the government has to put up with they'd probably be a little more considerate in their criticism, ma said, and pop said, Yee gods it's a woman's world and I hope the day never comes when it fails to amuse me.

And he took part of the paper and got behind it.

hottest congressional shindy in many years.

It has gone far enough to make one thing sure. The President has enough votes to force his proposal through the senate by a majority of at least eight. If he can get it through the senate, he can get it through the house. The only alternative is a filibuster and that would have to be on such a spectacular scale that expert political opinion is that the country would not stand for it.

On the other hand, the forcing of this bill through the senate might have a terrific popular kick-back. The strategy on both sides is to withhold a vote and wait for a clearer picture of popular opinion, or for the nine-day wonder to grow stale.

This column is for the proposal as the best way to break an almost complete impasse in democratic government. But in the past year it has said all there is to say—and all that has since been said in favor of it. Enough is sufficient.

OUR CHILDREN

BY ANGELO PATRI

GAMES WITH FATHER

Father is big and jolly, and after a day at the office he feels like having some exercise and some fun into the bargain. After dinner, and before bedtime, he plays games with the children. He plays tiger in the den. He is the tiger and his den is under the table. The children, armed with long spears of tightly rolled newspaper, charge at him. He roars, charges in turn, the children run and yell wildly and return to the charge.

Another good game is fort. The fort is made of the dining-room chairs, some from the living-room, too. The table-cloths are good for flags and the soft cushions and pillows are ammunition. There is a shout, pillows hurtle through the air. Loud laughter, protests, charges anew and anew until the besieged is worn out and surrenders. It is great fun. Father enjoys it as much as the children. Only mother disapproves.

"They will lie awake now for a couple of hours. They are so excited they cannot sleep. Then I shall not sleep. Then they will rise in the morning and their whole day is out of joint. Can't you play some quieter games?"

"They're having a good time. It does them good."

"You're wearing the furniture out. The place looks a sight. You can't expect to throw pillows about the house and then use them as cushions for people to sit on."

"Why not? I sit on them. You sit on them. The others can do the same or do without. I pay for the cushions and the furniture. I can use them as I like. My children are going to play with their father and I'm going to enjoy my children. I hadn't much fun when I was their age. My father never looked at me. Mine are not going to have that to say."

"But George, can't you play some other games with them? I know they love to play with you and I love to have them. But can't you see it breaks their routine, spoils the furniture—"

"Now Mary, don't tell me that all over again. Besides I know it and I don't care. I'm going to have some fun with the kids and let them have some with me. I'll buy new furniture when it is needed."

Mother tries to suppress the tears that have risen and say no more about it. How is she to manage to rear the children in good shape, teach them to care for the things about them, to be good mannered in the house, and all the rest?

Maybe father will compromise. Maybe he can be persuaded to play a game less active, more suitable for the time and the place. If not, then the only thing to do is to wait in patience for this phase to wear itself out as it certainly will. Then the stage can be set for other games with father. His affection for the children, his interest in them is too precious to be risked for anything short of carnage.

Try teaching the children table games; keep offering them until you strike one they like a lot. They will beg father to play it with them. Gradually the rough-house will be subdued. A little of it does a lot of good. Now and then, let the fathers ring, preferably in the attic or the cellar, where there are rafters to ring.

Mr. Patri has prepared a leaflet entitled, "A Book List," giving the titles of a wide variety of books all children should read. Send for it, addressing your request to Mr. Angelo Patri, Child Psychology Department of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped (3-cent) envelope.

News Behind The News

By Paul Mallon

AUTHORSHIP

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Senator Wheeler has been saying some unnamed parties came to him fifteen months ago and tried to get him to introduce a bill increasing the Supreme Court to fifteen justices. He has never identified the parties, but he came rather close in senate debate the other day when he said:

"I said then to those who brought it (the bill) to me, 'if you take this issue into the campaign, from a political standpoint it will ruin you.' I said further, 'you will have every church leader in the United States against you.' I was approached again later in the spring, and I told them the same thing."

"The bill then brought to my attention was not the identical bill now pending, but one to increase the Supreme Court permanently to fifteen."

Senator Wheeler did not need to mention names to his senatorial colleagues, who knew his inseparable associates last session were President Roosevelt's unofficial attorney-general, Tom Corcoran, and Ben Cohen. The three were working very closely together on the holding companies bill. The one who asked Mr. Wheeler to sponsor the bill was Mr. Corcoran, if good memories can be relied upon. The draft of the fifteen-judge bill, however, was understood to be the result of their joint labors.

Some senators with inside information have gone as far as to say, without mentioning Wheeler, that General Corcoran and General Cohen are the sole authors of the pending proposal.

HANDS

Available evidence indicates they probably were the instigators of the fifteen idea, but are not the sole authors of the plan.

The program as laid down by the President really seems to be a combination of several separate plans, which Mr. Roosevelt, Sec. Chairman put together with the aid of Judge Rosenman of New York and the justice department. The original Corcoran-Cohen plan, for instance, would merely have authorized the President to appoint six new Supreme Court Justices, whereas the President has altered that proposed method by making it contingent upon the failure of present justices to retire, and thus giving it a temporary tone.

Origin of the idea for creation of fifty more lower federal courts was apparently independent. It may be traced to an unpublished report, presented to the house judiciary committee last summer by Federal Judge Denman of San Francisco. This report also contained the recommendation for a proctor to function between the supreme and lower courts, but did not suggest tampering with the Supreme Court. Sec. Chairman Landis worked privately on this phase of the program for the president. So did the nominal attorney-general, Mr. Cummings, who contributed all statistics upon which the president's message was based. Judge Rosenman, the president's friend and personal counsel, is supposed to have helped to round out the plan in the message.

This may not be the whole story, but it is the best to be pieced together at this time, in the face of the official insistence that the plan was entirely the workmanship of the justice department and the president.

UNDERSTANDING

Pomp reared its silk hat higher than usual for the visit of Lord

Tweddsmuir, governor-general of Canada. One reason is Mr. Roosevelt was given such a reception on his recent Canadian visit, he did not want to be outdone.

There are three other reasons which may appease the wonder of news-readers at the extraordinary social gaiety of the occasion: (A) The St. Lawrence waterway treaty will require much friendship to revive it; (b) Trade treating with Britain and Canada is involved in many delicate new problems, and (c) The British naval building program is beginning to be regarded more seriously by the navy than at first.

The basic international policy of this administration is that friendly acquaintanceship must be established among statesmen of the world before anything can be accomplished for peace, finance or trade. That idea is Mr. Roosevelt's own, and would be unanimously approved even by the senate and the supreme court.

ALERTNESS

More sub-cellular military conferences are going on around the war department these days than since the World war. They are not the usual routine meetings of the general staff, but highly technical discussions in which experts from military intelligence are called in to report, presumably on such subjects as the Spanish war, British, Italian, German moves in the Mediterranean and the semi-secret war preparations being made in Europe.

So secret are these meetings that young commissioned officers are assigned to go through the waste baskets afterwards to make certain that no casual scrap of revealing memorandum has been thrown aside.

SELF-EXPRESSION

Some government employees have been talking matters over, and you may be sure, if they ever decide to express collectively in a mass protest, it will be a "stand-up strike." The Lewis method lacks novelty for political workers.
